

Noted Hotel Man Ends Life Finish Paying Fine After Year's Absence 49ers Celebrate in Chicago

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Frank Bennett, 56 years of age, manager of a hotel in Washington, D. C., committed suicide by shooting in the Hotel Gotham at 5th avenue and 55th street today.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Frank W. Bennett was one of the best known hotel managers in the country. For twenty years he was manager of the Arlington Hotel in this city. Probably no hotel man in the United States had a wider acquaintance.

MILLIONAIRE'S WIFE FOUND LYING UNCONSCIOUS IN PARK

SENSELESS WOMAN

Authorities Investigate Woman's Strange Tale

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Lena Lawrence, who claims to be the widow of J. L. Lawrence, a Los Angeles millionaire lumberman, who died some time ago was found unconscious in Golden Gate Park early this morning. A park policeman found her lying unconscious on the grass. She was immediately taken to the park receiving hospital. She seemed to be in a stupor and upon recovering consciousness, declared that she was drugged last night by her chauffeur.

Sergeant Blank Arrested Today By Policeman For Incent Conduct In Jefferson Square.

Lost Consciousness

In the auto party, according to Mrs. Lawrence, were Miss Frazier, Miss Annie Calkins, Max Baron and Chauffeur A. Judge.

Mrs. Lawrence stated that she had come from Los Angeles a few days ago and is stopping at the Fairmont Hotel. Last night she engaged an automobile for a ride through the park. She says she stopped at a place to get a drink and that was the last she remembered until she recovered consciousness at the receiving hospital. She repeatedly asserted that she was certain she had been drugged. Mrs. Lawrence said that her home was about three miles from Los Angeles, and that her stepsons have instituted a suit contesting the will of her husband, who was 70 years old when she married him five years ago at the age of 15.

LEAVES FOR LOS ANGELES.

Mrs. Lawrence will leave on the Owl this evening for Los Angeles. Mrs. Lawrence is just 20 years old and was married five years ago to the millionaire land owner, then in his 70th year. Six months ago he left her his entire estate. Mrs. Lawrence remembers very little relative to her movements of last night and could offer nothing to the police which would help them clear up the mystery. She says that she left the Fairmont Hotel last night about 11 o'clock and having never seen Obden Oak Park hired an automobile to go to the beach. She says that she took the California street car from the hotel to look for the machine, but being a stranger in the city could not tell where she had gotten off.

Hired Auto

Seeing an automobile standing in the street she hired it and ordered the chauffeur to take her to the beach. She arrived at the Casino, where, she says, she ordered a drink and remembered nothing more until she woke up in the central emergency hospital this morning. "The chauffeur and the machine were not near the Casino when the beach automobile came along and no clue to either has since been found," Mrs. Lawrence says who does not know the number of the automobile and can give a description of neither chauffeur nor car. "I guess I was drugged," said Mrs. Lawrence. "I simply had one drink at a road house on the Park road. The chauffeur took me into a side room in my dazed condition and told me to put my gun into my trunk. Then he winked. That's all I remember. I did not know where it was until I was told this morning."

TELLS OF TROUBLE

She had $25 when she started from the hotel but I had only $1 when I regained my senses. I only had one opium ring on my hand but that was not taken. I don't care to prosecute any one in this case and would just as soon have the police drop it. The loss of a few dollars is nothing to me that is all there was to the whole affair."

CHARGES NOT TO BE INVESTIGATED

Governor Gillett Finds That Accusations of Impartiality Are Unfounded.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 12.—There will be no investigation by Governor Gillett of the charges of certain medical students of the University of Southern California that at the recent examination by the State Board of Medical Examiners of applicants for license and partially was shown students from the Cooper Medical College by the members of the board. Charles L. Tisdall, secretary of the board, was in consultation with the governor this morning and at the conclusion of the conference it was announced that the executive was satisfied the accusations had no foundation.

SEA GIRL N. J. Sept. 12.—An attempt to assassinate Governor Fort of New Jersey has been thwarted by the watchfulness of postoffice employees who discovered in the mails an infernal machine addressed to the governor. The package was a cleverly contrived combination of powder, bullets and matches which had been so arranged that had the governor opened it in the ordinary way there is little doubt it would have killed him.

That the death dealing package was intercepted before it had reached its destination was due to the vigilance of the postal officials who have scanned the governor's mail with much care since the executives' recent escape against violation of the law at Atlantic City.

The attitude taken by the governor when he learned that the package had been intercepted was the great satisfaction. He was so confident and even threatened to order out the militia if necessary around resentment in some quarters to punish the governor as much as possible from any anonymous attack from that affair, unusual watch was put on his mail.

Several days ago when a package of unusual shape was found to bear insufficient postage it was taken by a clerk to the post office and was examined by inspectors. It became more impressed by the shape and condition of the package than by the shortage of stamps and at once wrote the governor informing him that a package of suspicious appearance addressed to him was being held at the office. The inspector asked for permission to open it without forwarding it to his destination. The permission was given at once. The greatest care the inspectors and his assistants exercised the package to find that it was a cleverly contrived infernal machine, but it was not exploded. It was a combination of powder, bullets and matches which had been so arranged that had the governor opened it in the ordinary way there is little doubt it would have killed him.

That the sender of the machine had in mind the life of the governor was apparent in examination of the contents of the package. On a bit of paper he had written three lines to the governor, which read:

Three lines were promptly addressed, in your postoffice address. Another line: You will know me. I am after you. A third line: TO GOVERNMENT.

Another line by which it is felt that the sender would like to give the impression that the machine was sent by a person I enemy of the governor, read: And I am against this rotten government.

Another line said today that he did not want to discuss the matter in any way. It is believed here today that the contents of the package have been made a close examination in the future of all packages addressed to the governor.

TO RETRY FAMOUS JUDGESHIP CASE

State Supreme Court Reverses
Decision of Plumas County Judge.

In the case of former Judge George W. Bush of the Superior Court of Shasta county vs. Judge Charles M. Head, also a judge of the Superior Court of Shasta county, an election contest case of peculiar nature, the Supreme Court yesterday reversed the decision of Judge Brewster of Plumas county and ordered the case back to him for retrial. Judge Head was serving a six year term from January, 1903, until January, 1909, as the sole Superior Court Judge of Shasta county, when in 1906 the State Legislature created a second judgeship, to which the governor appointed George W. Bush to serve until an election in November, 1906.

TWO JOBS AT ONCE. When that election came up Judge Bush was nominated on the Republican ticket to succeed himself. Then Judge Head, already holding one judgeship in that county, secured the Democratic nomination for the other and made his campaign on a promise that if elected he would not qualify for the second judgeship, so as to defeat the purpose of the legislature's act and thereby save the taxpayers of that county the expense of a second court and a second judge's salary.

On the strength of this pledge Judge Head, occupant of the first judgeship, was elected to the second. Bush brought suit to have Judge Head's election declared illegal and himself declared elected. To Judge Head's attorney entered a demurrer on the ground that the judgeship of the Superior Court of a county cannot legally be made the subject of a contested election case. This demurrer was sustained by Judge Brewster, whose decision is now reversed.

YOUNG IS FREE TO VOTE FOR PERKINS

Delegates From Fifty-Second Assembly District Convention Rescind Former Resolutions Against Senior Senator.

vention residing in the Fifty-second Assembly District met in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce at Berkeley last night and practically rescinded the action previously taken. The above resolution, unanimously adopted last evening was in response to an overwhelming public sentiment in Berkeley favorable to the re-election of Senator Perkins. By the adoption of this resolution Republican leaders in Berkeley have demonstrated that they are big enough to acknowledge that a political blunder was made by the hasty adoption of the former resolution—a resolution that did not reflect the views of a majority of the Republicans in the college town.

WILL BE FOR PERKINS.

A careful reading of last night's resolution makes it plain that the Republican nominee from the Fifty-second assembly district, if elected, as he unquestionably will be as a result of the practical rescinding of the instructions against Senator Perkins, will cast his vote for the choice of the Republican party, which choice will be George C. Perkins, unless every present political sign falls in with the regular caucus. The resolutions set forth that the nominee shall act in conjunction with other Lincoln-Roosevelt Republican members of the legislature in the matter of selecting a nominee for the United States senate. The humor of this can be appreciated when the fact is called to mind that the man will be severely enough of the late Lincoln-Roosevelt League in the next legislature to hold a conference, but by any possibility should such a conference be held it would unquestionably declare for Senator Perkins. Legislators, who are claimed by the late reform organization, with hardly a single exception, were only nominated after declaring publicly or privately for the re-election of the senior United States senator.

ALL FOR SENIOR SENATOR.

In Humboldt county, which was captured by the Lincoln-Roosevelt League, the legislative nominees were instructed for Senator Perkins. Solano county, which was supposed to have been controlled by President Devlin of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League, instructed its nominees for Perkins. In Los Angeles, Alameda, and other counties throughout the State, practically every legislative nominee declared for the reform organization is either privately or publicly under pledge to Senator Perkins.

The friends of Senator Perkins maintain that should there be a conference of Lincoln-Roosevelt Leaguers when the legislature convenes, that he would be endorsed by a practically unanimous vote.

THE VITAL POINT. The vital part of last night's resolutions, however, is that which allows the nominees from the Fifty-second assembly district to participate in the regular legislative caucus. The resolution concludes with the words that the nominee "shall be bound like every other Republican, by the action of such caucus."

Max Thelen has resigned as an officer of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League. The following is THE TRIBUNE's Berkeley correspondent's account of last night's meeting.

MEETING LAST NIGHT. BERKELEY, Sept. 12.—The Lincoln-Roosevelt League of Berkeley has released C. C. Young its nominee for the assembly, from the cast iron injunction to oppose Sena or Perkins.

There is a short time before the county convention and the Berkeley man will now be able to caucus with the regular Republicans and cast his vote with the majority, without fear of offending some of the radical Berkeley reformers. The change was accomplished at a meeting of the delegates in the Chamber of Commerce rooms last night. An amendment to the original instructions was adopted which leaves the way open for the Berkeley man to act with the remainder of the Republic in majority when he arrives in Sacramento and cast his vote for Senator Perkins after the caucus.

"We didn't want Mr. Young to be the mummy at the feast," said Arthur Eklund, who introduced the resolution. "We gave him instructions which only place him in an unpleasant dilemma in Sacramento, and they should be modified. We don't want him to go there and be bound by our action in a way that will make him a marked man or impair his usefulness as an assemblyman by pursuing an unpopular course."

ONLY TWO OPPOSED.

But two voices were raised to oppose the resolution. E. B. Newton and George Gelder. Newton said that the resolution was a practical endorsement of Senator Perkins. Gelder made a disjointed filibuster which fell on deaf ears.

Max Thelen, who presided at the meeting, said that he believed that Young should be left with some discretion. "Young should be given permission to use his discretion and not be gagged and bound so as to become a negative factor," said Thelen. "Mr. Young, under the old instructions might go into the regular caucus or he might not. If he went in it is probable a number of people in Berkeley would say he had violated his instructions. If he remained out other people here might say he was sacrificing the interests of the district to satisfy a personal whim or spite. We want Mr. Young to be free to do as he pleases for the University. We want him to have influence and standing at Sacramento, not to be a marked man, life-bound by something we may say to him here. We don't want any man representing us to be in such a dilemma that by our impracticable instructions his usefulness as our representative is nullified."

CAN GO INTO CAUCUS.

The Eklund instructions do not instruct him to vote for Senator Perkins, but they permit him to caucus with the Republican majority, and Mr. Young goes primarily to Sacramento as a Republican. He is first to caucus with the other members of the Lincoln-Roosevelt faction and if they decide to caucus in their own right with the majority of the regulars, Mr. Young is free to do as he pleases. "This is all in all should be. They call us long hairs here in Berkeley, but we are not as impracticable as they would represent us. It behooves us to leave Mr. Young free in Sacramento to do as he thinks best for the district. Berkeley wants favors at times. We want appropriations for the University and if Mr. Young is left as this instruction would leave him, our best interests will be served."

Dr. M. M. Rowley of South Berkeley was for pursuing a common sense course and leaving Young a free representative. At this juncture Gelder arose to say he withdrew his opposition and the resolution was adopted by a unanimous vote.

HUMBOLDT COUNTY.

The following resolution was adopted by the Republican Humboldt county, pledging the legislative nominees to Senator George C. Perkins:

"In view of the fact that the last Republican State convention, held in Oakland, California, strongly endorsed Senator Perkins for re-election, and recognized his high standing in the United States Senate, his large experience as a legislator, his commanding position on the foremost committees, and especially his ever loyal and true friendship for Humboldt county, we hereby instruct our representatives in the next Legislature to vote for him and to use all honorable means for his re-election to the United States Senate."

It daily becomes more apparent that Senator Perkins' re-election is assured. There is a scramble in all directions to get aboard, as evidenced by the Humboldt resolutions, and even more strikingly by the actions of the Berkeley Republicans last evening.

EUGENE V. DEBS EXPOUNDS PRINCIPLES OF SOCIALISM TO THOUSANDS IN GREEK THEATRE

'Red Special' Arrives in Berkeley and Candidate Is Escorted by His Followers--Expresses Anarchistic Doctrine

BERKELEY, Sept. 12.—Eugene V. Debs, Socialist candidate for President, spoke in the Greek Theatre today to three thousand people. Debs and his "Red Special" arrived in Berkeley at 11:30 and were met by an enthusiastic delegation of Socialists from Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley.

Proceeding to a barrel, the candidate was escorted to the theatre, where he spoke for nearly an hour, enunciating succinctly the principles of Socialism.

Debs said in part: "Competition has about run its course since the machine has taken the place of hand tools and industrial organization has been completed. The worker is once constructive, has become destructive. The small employer has become a capitalist, and the worker has lost control of the tools with which he works."

THE TWO CLASSES. "With this has come a division of the world into two economic classes. On the one hand we have the capitalist, and on the other hand thirty million workers. The latter have made the tools that they work with, and yet they do not own them, and to put this ownership back into the hands of the workers is the mission of the Socialist."

When the worker owns his tools and the sources from which the raw material is drawn, he will be independent and will have to ask no man for a job.

"The tool has been socialized, but what do you think of the private ownership of the social tool? Production has been socialized, but ownership is still in private hands. We propose to push the evolution to that ownership as well as use will be socialized."

MAKING SOCIALISTS.

"The great capitalists are the propounders for the social movement. Every time Rockefeller puts a small capitalist out of business, he adds a new worker for Socialism. They tell you they will give you a business administration through the Republicans, but a business administration means graft and graft means politics. Under our present system we refuse women the right to vote. The politicians say it would degrade a woman to go into politics. Any political affair that would degrade a woman ought to degrade a man. Both the old parties are controlled by the capitalists of the country. The Democrats and the Republicans are the two wings of the same old bird of prey."

DEBATES JURIST. Debs then returned to some charges printed in an Eastern newspaper about Judge Peter S. Grosscup of the Federal bench using special cars and drawing dividends from broken down railroads.

"This is the man who sent me to jail for six months," continued Debs. "He has become a millionaire. If there were any honor in the judiciary this scandal would have been impeached long ago."

At this juncture John Aubrey Jones, of Oakland, asked Debs if these charges he made against Judge Grosscup could be proved.

"Absolutely true," replied Debs. Jones then made a short speech declaring it was a shame to see the country at a divided Debs how the Supreme court

The evidence of the "spirit of harmony" prevailing in Berkeley at the present time, no better evidence could be furnished than to quote an editorial in the Berkeley Gazette favorable to Representative Knowland. Friend W. Richardson is a loyal Republican, and now that Knowland has been nominated, says that he is a painstaking, hard-working member of Congress, and can always be found at his post of duty. Now that Knowland has been nominated we believe he should and will have the support of the League in Berkeley. In the previous campaign Berkeley has given Knowland large majorities, and we predict that he will have a large majority in November."

LEARNED OF DECEPTION. Within a week Miss Strain attempted to induce her son, getting into communication with her parents in the East, learned that he was living in Los Angeles. She learned to believe as to the deception upon her, and without a denial of her charges she fled the city.

Owing to the fact that Miss Strain up her father's complaint to the clerk of that city, but as the man had been identified as a person who had been in business here a few times, she was referred to Captain Twelfth Street and the war of the arrest of Griffin was issued.

HE WAS A SOLDIER. Griffin, who is but 31 years of age, was a soldier in the Philippines, and was in an injury to one of his legs was placed on a pension list.

GIRL TELLS STORY. SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—A girl, who is now in the city, told the story of her connection with Griffin in a plain, straightforward way, which has in it, however, a tinge of sadness.

She said she met the man stopping in Oakland and had known him for a long time. She said she met him on June 10 of this year. She said she was an actress, and is now studying for the stage. It was her intention for the stage that led her to the attention of Griffin, who represented himself as an actor and told her his name was Watson.

He told her that he intended to go to the East and would take him and his family to live with him and his family. It was necessary for her to become his wife. She said she was a widow and had a young child. She said she was a widow and had a young child. She said she was a widow and had a young child.

She has not seen him since, but she has not seen him since, but she has not seen him since.

MISMATED COUPLES
SEEKING DIVORCES

Suit for divorce on the ground of desertion was filed today in the Superior Court by Mrs. Mary E. Jones against Charles S. Jones, a local actor.

The following final decree of the court was rendered: "The parties to the marriage of Charles S. Jones and Mary E. Jones, who were married on the 10th day of June, 1907, at San Francisco, California, are hereby divorced from each other and from the bonds of matrimony."

TO SUBPENA DIRECTORS OF R.R.

ARRESTED BROKERS TO FIGHT OCEAN SHORE

Lawyer Claims J. Downey Harvey Is Selling Holdings Secretly At $62 While Advertising For $90.

(Special To The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—Startling disclosures into the inner affairs of the Ocean Shore railroad, which was organized several years ago for the purpose of running a railway line from this city to Santa Cruz, is proclaimed as the result of the arrest of C. E. Rankin and John Lynch, two prominent brokers of this city on charges of felony embezzlement and charges of felony embezzlement and charges of felony embezzlement.

According to Attorney T. C. West, who represents both brokers in the criminal proceedings before Superior Judge Cook, the whole affair is the result of revenge brought upon Rankin and Lynch for disposing of the bonds at a future value.

In addition to this it is charged by Attorney West that J. Downey Harvey, a president of the Ocean Shore Company, while almost daily advertising the securities at $90 on the $100 in reality secretly selling his own holdings at $62 and gradually endeavoring to release himself from active interest in the company.

CLAIMS ACT LEGAL. "The fact is pointed out that if the bonds were worth anywhere near par value it would not have been necessary for the Ocean Shore people to pledge $40,000 worth to secure a loan of $10,000 cash. It was John J. Lynch who loaned this money and his attorney claims that after receiving the $10,000 worth of bonds he disposed of them as any other broker would do."

"When a broker makes a loan on bonds which he knows to be decreasing in value," said Attorney West this morning, "he immediately sells them for what they are worth in order to protect himself. It is in bringing on this case that any time the owner desires to redeem the securities, the broker buys them again at a lower figure, thus making a substantial commission. This was exactly what was done in this case, and some of the bonds were bought by C. E. Rankin, another broker."

"Now, among the bonds brought by Rankin were some of J. Downey Harvey's own holdings and the price paid for it was $12, which shows conclusively to my mind that the president of the company is secretly disposing of his holdings."

TWENTY DAY NOTICE. In the agreement signed by the Ocean Shore people and Broker Lynch, the following words appear: "Said John Lynch may make such use of the said bonds as he deems proper." The only qualification in the twenty day notice must be that the company before the bonds are sold.

Since the arrest of the two brokers, the Ocean Shore people have commenced a civil suit against them, claiming that from further disposing of the $10,000 in securities.

They claim that this suit, as well as the civil action has been instituted to prevent the sale of the bonds at $62 and $63, and thus spoiled the effect of the widespread advertising of J. Downey Harvey, who has been endeavoring to sell the company's bonds at $90, whereas it is alleged his broker, E. M. Swain, has been secretly disposing of the company's own holdings at from $58 to $62.

TO SUBPENA DIRECTORS. It is now the purpose of Lynch and Rankin to subpoena the directors of the Ocean Shore railroad at the office of the former on Monday next and secure deposition from them showing the exact disposition of the company.

LETTER TOO LATE TO PREVENT SUICIDE

SAN JOSE, Sept. 12.—Three years before the time she had set for her death and at the moment when the postman brought a letter from her husband saying he was coming back to care for her, she was ready to die. Mrs. Annora Forbes, wife of a Rawhide, Nev., mining man yesterday swallowed carbolic acid at S. Gallagher's place near Watsonville.

Mrs. Forbes was found by workmen as she was writhing in her death agonies on the floor of the postman's letter box. A paragraph of which read as follows: "You have offered that you did not care to live after you were 50 years old, as I am coming back to take care of you while you are alive."

Mrs. Forbes was 47 years old.

An Opportunity Backed by Our Own Cash

You know positively money is being made every day by men all around us. Daily a new millionaire is springing up as if by magic.

You know it is the common thing to remark, "What a lucky man he is."

But is he lucky? Isn't it something more than luck that is making that particular man his money? Isn't it his ability to discern opportunities as they present themselves?

All have opportunities, but few have the foresight or ability to discern opportunities as they present themselves.

We present an opportunity for the man with a small amount of money to make a handsome profit.

It will pay the man with a few dollars—$10 or more—to investigate the opportunity we give to make $500 or more during the next few months.

Ours is not the old out and dried real estate investment proposition—ours is something entirely new—entirely out of the ordinary—a plan absolutely new, which guarantees both safety and profit.

We know we have a money-making proposition.

We know we have a plan for making money which is entirely new—something heretofore never dreamed of.

We know we shall make more money for ourselves, our stockholders and our investors than any similar business in the United States in a similar space of time.

We know this to be a fact so well we have not hesitated to back our proposition with our own money.

We intend absolutely to make our business a tremendous success.

Our future can be best assured by taking into partnership with us One Thousand of Oakland's inhabitants.

These partners will do our advertising for us. They will bring our business daily to the attention of their friends.

They will develop our business for us in a manner that no other method we could employ will.

We do not expect to secure these One Thousand partners without proving conclusively it will be worth their while.

Instantly on hand and in abundance value amounting to $30,000 absolutely free.

In addition to the twenty lots of which the two required to pay fifty years in which there will be no payments. The lot $350 at the present price, with interest added to the deferred payments, will be worth every cent of it, and the price at fifty cents interest, will be but $250. The price at fifty cents interest, will be but $250.

DIRECTORS OAKLAND HOTEL COMPANY—Gentlemen:

The undersigned citizens and business men of Oakland do hereby urge respectfully but most earnestly that you proceed with reasonable dispatch to erect the new hotel projected nearly two years ago. Practical wisdom and public spirit are united in favor of this enterprise, which is vitally important to the city's welfare.

None of the arguments originally advanced when the hotel company was organized has lost force; indeed, the necessity for a commodious, high-class hotel of the modern type is greater today than ever before. Moreover, the hotel must be completed if Oakland is to hold her good name and place among the progressive cities of the country. After advertising the project so extensively, the city's credit and standing will be much impaired if the enterprise is not successfully carried out.

We respectfully urge upon you, gentlemen, to show your faith in the city, your regard for the good name of Oakland, and your public spirit by proceeding with the work inaugurated with so much enthusiasm and such high hopes. You have the good wishes of the people of Oakland behind you. Their co-operation is assured. Go ahead, we beg of you, and failure cannot result.

Henry R. Levy.

HENRY R. LEVY, merchant and capitalist, 608 Walsworth Avenue—
I think the time is ripe to build the Bankers' Hotel, and it would almost be a public calamity if this worthy project would fail. In all my travels throughout the United States (having crossed the continent ten times), there is no city which I have visited which, in my estimation, has the splendid future that our beautiful city of Oakland has. We certainly can well afford to support a hotel which is outlined as the Bankers' Hotel, fully as well as many other cities which have less natural advantages than Oakland has.

Therefore I sincerely hope that the Bankers' Hotel will be pushed to an early completion as quickly as possible.

R. H. Magill

R. H. MAGILL, District Manager, Home Insurance Co. of New York, 910 Broadway—The traveling public form their opinion of city or town, for good or for bad, on the style of the hotel accommodations. There is nothing more important, nothing that will attract outside capital like a first-class hotel, nothing that will give this city more general and favorable notoriety.

The "Palace Hotel" gave San Francisco its first send-off—the "Bankers' Hotel" will make Oakland a household word the world over.

TAXPAYERS ASK THAT BANKERS' HOTEL BE BUILT

W. C. Hamilton
W. C. HAMILTON of Hamilton & Co., real estate and insurance, 17 San Pablo avenue—Burlington is a precursor of dry-rot and synonym of sleepy-hollow and moss-backs is a by-word which ought not to be applicable to the resident taxpayer of Oakland, who boasts a city not alone surpassing beauty but possessing a vast commercial resource. Yet it is not savor of primitive conditions and of a wanton lack of public spirit, this disinclination to carry out a project which promised in its inception so much for Oakland the sliding of a hotel of the class of the Palace, Fairmont, or St. Francis of San Francisco? Would not San Francisco be the subject of ridicule wherever named, did she not possess hotels of the finest class? Do the wealthy, fashionable tourists from the east and from abroad become guests of Oakland hotels, and if not, why not? It simply that the class of hotels at which they would be guests are at San Francisco and hence to San Francisco they direct their steps, rather omitting Oakland from their itinerary. San Francisco with a population of 350,000 maintains four hotels, one of which cost less than one million and a quarter in construction, and with a population of 250,000 would be able to maintain at least one such hostelry. Is it not an enormous impression one however that is become current, that the projectors of this palatial hotel contemplate abandoning the work leaving a hole in the ground to commemorate their lack of confidence in our future growth and commercial importance?

Clarence Crowell
CLARENCE CROWELL, attorney at law—The completion or the abandonment of the Bankers' Hotel project will be an exact measure of the confidence the community has in itself. If it is completed it will be a splendid and inspiring exhibition of courage and business nerve on the part of our financiers and bankers. If it is abandoned it will mean that the community is without confidence in itself and others will probably say the distrust of ourselves is justified, these things being true it would seem that it is but simple business to go forward with the work. Oakland cannot afford to let outside capital now there is a lack of confidence are for if she does other enterprises that would naturally seek a footing here will go to other communities that have a reputation for progressiveness. In the past it is well known that because that Lake Merritt was unattended visiting capitalists have gone to other cities stating that they could not invest in Oakland if the addition of Lake Merritt was a standard of the enterprise of the city. The Bankers' Hotel is abandoned to same logic will gain be applied to the city and some capitalist intending to locate here will go to other parts. I think great wisdom will be shown if the hotel is erected forthwith.

James P. Taylor
Editor TRIBUNE—Dear Sir: A good deal of advice is being thrown at the subscribers to the Bankers' Hotel with a lot of talk about the price. Talk is cheap especially advice to the other fellow how his money should be used for the benefit of others but in this connection money talks best and will accomplish more. This hotel is not politics in which everyone has a right to vote. It is business and the man who puts his money up is the one who is privileged to do the talking. When the Bankers' Hotel project was started everything and everybody was prosperous and money plentiful. Since then conditions have greatly changed and financial difficulties have beset some of those who subscribed, and they are now in need of money to meet their own obligations. Hotels are not a paying investment. Some subscribers who have paid their 50 per cent and will pay the balance do not think they should be required to face certain loss and assessments for the running of the hotel. Now have these people who are so ready with their advice any civic pride and if so, how much? Measured by dollars? What will they subscribe to a guarantee fund to protect for a few years these subscribers against loss after the hotel is completed? I do not notice that any not even one, of the Nothing Up Advisers offer to help with their dollars. Let them get in and do something practical in the way of a guarantee fund. We are not in need of their advice regarding civic pride. We have put our money up and they—what have they done? When they send in their advice to the directors of the Bankers' Hotel, let it be accompanied by their subscription to a guarantee fund. I am one of the subscribers.
JAMES P. TAYLOR

M. M. Hoffman
M. M. HOFFMAN, confectioner, 511 Seventeenth street—In common with all citizens who want to see Oakland built into a great and magnificent city I am anxious to see the projected Bankers' Hotel completed with all possible speed. However, in an enterprise of that magnitude I think the directors, who have given the matter the most attention, are the ones to say whether the building operations ought to be rushed at this time. I have made it my practice for years to insist that Eastern salesmen who desire to do business with me should patronize Oakland hotels and the Santa Fe, Oakland would be in a sorry plight if she were compelled to tell all the world that she was not in a position to accommodate her guests. Both civic pride and business sense commend the project and only a senseless case of cold feet will prevent its construction.

W. D. Heitmann
WILLIAM D. HEITMANN, 5101 Grove street—From the days that I was in the City Council up to the present time, I do not know of any contemplated improvement that is needed so badly as the Bankers' Hotel. We are now surrounded practically on three sides by railroads and on the fourth side by twenty miles of front. The last and every one of them is a threat to the city. To suppose that the world is so much for us, would be to make the great city of Oakland, with more than 200,000 population, the laughing stock of every city on the coast where there is the slightest bit of pride or love of city. There is not a city on the coast that is not envious of the natural advantages of Oakland. If we fail to make such an improvement as the Bankers' Hotel when every possible interest is crying for it it will be an exhibition of cowardly mistrust and fear that will cast a shadow over the entire future of the city. Now is the time if sunlight and golden opportunity. We would better make hay while the sun shines. Kick off the garments of ultra-conservatism and stand forth before the world a city full of vigor, full of confidence, an inspiration to other cities which hope to achieve great things.

E. A. Petar
E. A. PETAR, optometrist, 617 Sixteenth street—This hotel at the corner of Thirteenth and Harrison streets until it is filled up with masonry teaching five or six stories high will be an eye sore marred by the beauty of the city. We have promised the world a hotel and have given it thus far a hole in the ground. The promise should be redeemed in the proper way—the only way—by erecting the hotel in accordance with the plans and specifications already published and partly carried into effect.

Miles McKinnor
MILES MCKINNON, railroad man, 1122 Third street—With the number of trains that are daily going in and out of Oakland it would seem that a hotel of the magnitude of the Bankers' Hotel is badly needed. When the Western Pacific adds its hundreds of trains a day to those that are already on the tracks of the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe, Oakland would be in a sorry plight if she were compelled to tell all the world that she was not in a position to accommodate her guests. Both civic pride and business sense commend the project and only a senseless case of cold feet will prevent its construction.

W. C. Ball
W. C. BALL, grocer, 711 San Pablo avenue—If the same amount of energy had been expended in Oakland in pushing plans for improvements to a successful conclusion that has been used in blocking them we would have a half dozen Bankers' Hotels. There is no use looking backward or complaining of past misdeeds; we should live all that sort of thing down in a day and transfer Oakland into a hive of industry and achievement. The hotel is needed and THE TRIBUNE is rendering the community at large a real service by keeping the project alive by well directed publicity.

Arthur Holland
ARTHUR HOLLAND of the Stock-er-Holland Abstracting Co.—There was never a more opportune time for the construction of the hotel than the present time. The necessity for it is in reality greater now than it was two years ago when the project was commenced so auspiciously. At that time the price of materials was high. Now it is low whereas the need for the hotel is greater than ever. Within a very short time the Western Pacific will be dropping its engines of at our front door and it is time indeed that we prepared a proper place to entertain them. The hotel is not a fantastic dream but is something that is vital to the future of the city. Without it progress will be woefully delayed. We cannot afford to be without the building. It will not be a luxury but an actual necessity. The erection of such a hotel will be a new epoch in the history of Oakland and the projectors of it will have their own niche in the hall of fame.

J. O. Albright
J. O. ALBRIGHT of Fruitvale representing the J. B. Ford Co., of Wyandotte, Mich.—Oakland is badly in need of a first-class hotel and being a commercial traveler myself, I frequently hear remarks from fellow-passengers on the trains complaining about Oakland's poor hotel facilities. I know scores of them who stop over in San Francisco, who preferred to come on this side of the bay and after trying our present hotels went away thoroughly disgusted. Oakland is certainly "asleep at the switch" and is passing up a lot of tourist and commercial men's business through the want of a first-class caravansary. I sincerely hope the movement you have inaugurated will be the means of urging the directors of the hotel company to proceed with this work.

W. D. Sturtevant
W. D. STURTEVANT, Sept 12—The Board of Prison Directors met at Sir Quentin last night preliminary to their regular meeting today, and canvassed the names which have been suggested to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Brainerd F. Smith, with the result that W. D. Sturtevant will, in all probability, be selected to fill the position of clerk of the board at today's meeting. Sturtevant comes from Lodi in San Joaquin county and is a brother-in-law of Assemblyman Federal of San Joaquin county, who was recently re-nominated. He has been active in politics in the county particularly in the outside or country districts.

ATLANTA, Sept. 12.—John Temple Graves, last night's speaker at the notification ceremonies for the Independent party in Atlanta, told the audience that he was a trader and turncoat. He said that he was a trader because he had sold out to the Democratic party in 1896 and a turncoat because he had turned his back on the Democratic party in 1900. ## MRS. CHABOT LIKELY TO SETTLE WATER DISPUTE WITH VALLEJO

Offers With the City Officials on the Question of Supply
(FROM THE VALLEJO NEWS)
In an effort to reach an amicable settlement with the city of Vallejo, Mrs. Chabot, the owner of the Vallejo Water Company, which controls the Lake Chabot supply, came to Vallejo last evening with her daughter to hold a conference with Mayor Malignan. Mrs. Chabot came here for the purpose of talking over matters personally and to have an understanding exclusive of anything that attorneys or her son-in-law J. H. Dekman, might do. From her conversation Mrs. Chabot has very intention to act fairly and if such is the case she can be assured that the people of Vallejo will be more than willing to meet her half way. Nothing was gained by personal abuse and promises where two great interests are attempting to reach a settlement. Mrs. Chabot desired to know what the city intended to do and what price it wanted to pay for water. She said that she had no intention of refusing the city water or of taking an exorbitant figure which would

AGAIN BREAKS HIS AIRSHIP RECORD

Wright Stays In Air 20 Minutes With Machine In Perfect Control
WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—In a flight lasting one hour, ten minutes and twenty six seconds, Orville Wright yesterday surpassed all his previous exploits for a time and distance flight for a heavier-than-air machine. Two flights were made at Fort Myer yesterday, the first being of ten minutes and fifty seconds' duration for the purpose of showing it what rate of speed he had been traveling during his long flights of the last three days. Yesterday's test demonstrated, according to the aviators' calculations, that the speed of the aeroplane during the record breaking flight of Wednesday and Thursday was 38.6 miles an hour. Sailed in figure "8". To those who have witnessed Wright's flights from the beginning the results are now regarded as a matter of course, but the majority of those who witnessed yesterday's long flight were roused to great enthusiasm when the aviator for the third successive day broke his previous record. Fifty-seven times the machine passed over the starting point during the seventy minutes and twenty-four seconds that it was up. Twice the aeroplane described the figure "8" showing for the first time during his Fort Myer flights that he could control his machine in any direction. A feature of the landing was that he did not stop the motor until the machine touched the ground.

NEW $20 PIECES WILL NOT STACK

Coinage of Gold Stops At S. F. Mint As Instructions Clash As to St. Gauden's Legend
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—Activity at the San Francisco Mint in the coinage of the St. Gauden's gold coins has been suspended. The first few days' output amounting to $40,000 in double eagles and several thousand in eagles, is all that Superintendent Sweeney has to show for the preparations he was forced to make. Articles and commercial concerns of what a coin should be have clashed. The double eagles will not "stack" along-side the old coins of the same denomination. In a few days of the new coins would be at least one on this side of the coinage. It is feared that a stack of $400,000 in the eagles and double eagles would be at least one on this side of the coinage. ## OSBORNE WANTS HIS RELEASE FROM GIRL

JUSTON REPORTS THE NEED OF OFFICERS
WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—In his annual report to the war department General Frederick Funston, as commander of the department of California, expresses the hope that the war department would succeed in its efforts to obtain an additional number of officers to take the place of those on detached duty from their organizations. He adds that this is a vital question, affecting greatly the efficiency of the army. General Funston said: "The beneficial results anticipated from recent legislation increasing the pay of the army are already becoming apparent. Company commanders report that a much larger proportion of eligible men are re-enlisted than was formerly the case, and that former soldiers are returning to the service. The feeling, akin to hopelessness, that has hung over the army since the loss of active operations in the Philippines has given way to a better spirit and as a result of greater contentment there is an increased interest in the arduous duty and consequently in efficiency. Our officers no longer feel that they have been sent to making risks without straw."

THE LUCKY OWNERS OF THE LUCKY KEYS

Thousands Respond to Wieland's Unique Advertisements and Deposit Keys.
As a result of the unique and forceful advertising campaign which the John Wieland Brewery is conducting in the newspapers of San Francisco and Oakland, thousands of purchasers of Wieland's Beer sent in their names, together with the keys which were issued with every case of beer. On the afternoon of Monday, August 31st the two safes, one exhibited in the window of Brown Bros. & Co.'s store, 461 Market street, and one in the window of the Hub Clothing Co., 1114 Broadway, Oakland, were opened in the presence of an immense crowd of interested spectators. The lucky key which opened the safe was sent in by Mr. M. J. of 1500 Point Lobos avenue, while Mr. C. B. Leary, 214 Broadway, Oakland, was the lucky possessor of the key which opened the drawer of the safe in that city. Each of these gentlemen received $100 in coin, contained in the safe drawer, and the safe as well. The safes are of fine steel construction and are valuable in themselves. August was the first month of this great advertising campaign, which will be continued—a safe and $100 in coin being given away each month in San Francisco and one in Oakland. The sale of Wieland's Beer in San Francisco and Oakland has always been large, and the increased demand due to this original advertising campaign has been phenomenal.

FIGHT TRUST CASES CONTINUED TWO WEEKS

(Special to The Tribune.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—The fight trust cases in which E. M. Granger, Jr., Coffroth, Willie E. and Eugene E. Schmitt are defendants were continued in Judge Dunne's court for one week this morning, and those against M. W. Coffey and Andrew M. Wilson, ex-supervisors, went over for two weeks. In Judge Lawrence's court the trolley trust case against Abraham Reif were continued for four weeks, owing to the fact that no indictment against the defendant is now on trial in that department.

Presidential Sideshows Touring California.

To say that California has within its borders two candidates for the Presidency is not necessarily to say that we are entertaining angels unwares, but it may convey information that is by some overlooked.

We are reminded through the news columns that Chafin, Prohibition candidate, and Debs, standard-bearer of Socialism, are here making speeches. The former is uttering severe philippics against everybody who drinks anything of more sinister character than water, while Debs wants a whack-up from all who have a surplus.

As to the former, it is rather difficult to accord that deference that ought to be due a man who is running for the Presidency. The idea that a man is equipped to cope with all the questions of statecraft incidental to the governing of a great nation just because he won't imbibe any other fluid than water cannot appeal to many people who are in the habit of thinking straightaway. Yet Chafin has quite considerable crowds out to his meetings, and the accounts tell us he is lustily cheered when he makes his points against men and parties who do not view sumptuary questions from the point that he occupies.

As to Debs, he is quite a different sort of a sideshow. California has had experience with him. Something more than fourteen years ago there was a grave question whether anarchy would not gain a foothold in this republic. An armed revolt was led by Debs, then a locomotive engineer, and there was insurrection in several States, put down by regular soldiers with shotguns. Ever since the failure of that effort its leader has been an anarchist, though posing as a Socialist. He is the standing candidate of his kind for the Presidency, just as Mr. Bryan is of the Democracy.

It is reported that two thousand people turned out to hear Debs in San Francisco last night. They paid admission fee to get in the hall and contributed to a pass-the-hat fund afterward.

The speaker advanced the new idea that the Republican and Democratic candidates are in silent partnership. They have an understanding, according to Debs, and their proponents are in a frame of mind that will be satisfied with either, in order to defeat Debs. According to Debs, Debs is the fear of the plutocrats of all parties and every degree. It is understood that by plutocrat is meant the man who has something to do in money or property.

While Debs is very severe on the old parties he is not at all comforting to some others. In criticizing the Democratic party he inquired: "I want to ask you, was there a single workingman at the Denver convention?" He was answered, "Yes, Gompers was there." For which he was ready with, "Gompers is not a workingman, but a worker of workers." Now, this is interesting when it is remembered how Gompers and Debs used to hunt in pairs. For it must be conceded that Debs speaks from an intimate understanding of the subject.

Why are the Presidential sideshows touring California? There is no doubt about this State. It is Republican to the core. Other parties have about as much chance of carrying it as snow has of retaining its congealed state in juxtaposition to the fiercest calorics.

Success of Practical Aerial Navigation Assured.

The success of Orville Wright with his aeroplane yesterday serves to confirm the belief that man has conquered the air as a realm for navigation. Wright maneuvered his craft around the drill grounds at Fort Meyer for a total of fifty-eight laps in 65 minutes and 52 seconds, exceeding any previous flight in time, and going against stiff and variable winds, at different altitudes. There is no question but the invention of the Wright Brothers enables men to fly. It also enables them to buffet the wind, to turn and take any direction or altitude they wish. It would thus seem that the practicability of human flight has been established, and that it only remains to improve it down to the point that will make it safe, and from a commercial point of view, practicable.

Already there are discussions of the new problems that will have to be met when ships sail the air as a regular thing. If an insignificant craft that costs a few thousand dollars can, by sailing aloft and dropping explosives, render impotent the enormously expensive ships of war that navigate the waters and the elaborate systems of fortifications that guard the vital places, and in a few minutes destroy great cities, the first consideration will be ways and means to head it off. Methods of defense will have to be radically changed, unless that greatly desired era of universal peace arrives. If aerial navigation brings that millennium it will be the greatest boon yet vouchsafed mankind aside from any physical consideration. But even with the nations agreed that there shall be no more wars, the predatory party, the reckless person, and the malicious individual will remain. As the irresponsible chauffeur now endangers others, the same character up in the balloon would have infinitely greater opportunity to work disaster, and a better chance to escape punishment.

But there is likely to be apprehension of things to happen that will never happen. When friction matches were invented there was almost universal fear that everything would be set afire, because it was so easy to set a flame. Children, rodents, and accidents, in conjunction with the new fangled device to strike a light, were sure to start accidental fires that would consume everything.

Some of the accounts of the first railway are highly interesting. One communication to the editor predicted that they would never become practical. People would refuse to patronize them because of the certainty of the cars getting off the rails so often. The journey would be greatly interrupted, and passengers would have to lend a hand to set the cars back on the tracks. Another objection to traversing the country districts was that moving trains would scare to death horses that were feeding in pastures along the route. Horses, in their fright, would run till they hurt themselves or fell dead. Such a wonderful speed as 15 miles an hour could never be maintained for any distance or time. And then, look at the money invested in stages, horses and harness! The sparks from the engines would burn up towns and cities along the lines.

The untoward happenings that are possible with the air full of craft and a lot of irresponsible people dropping things on those remaining on terra firma outclass the dire possibilities that attended the introduction of the friction match, and even the advent of the railroad; but humanity and civilization can probably rest assured that ways will still be found to safeguard the many against the few.

Aerial navigation is bound to come in any event, and it seems likely it is already here.

An Example of Political Courage and Outspokenness

The outspokenness of the Hon. Joseph G. Cannon, as he addresses constituents, is a refreshing example of American independence. Some people having adopted the un-American practice of attacking him by appealing to class and religious prejudice, he squarely states his position, a bating nothing of his ideas and sentiments as previously expressed. It is well understood that the conventional way would have been to explain and half deny. But sturdy Joe Cannon does nothing of the sort. He tells how he feels about it, and that being straightforward, he rests his case with the people.

Does anybody doubt how it will turn out on election day? The people admire a man who is up and up. They do not condemn him if his ideas do not coincide with theirs. But they want him to be sincere. If they feel that he is genuine he will always have a hearing and a show. Cannon is a cordial hater of shams, rather outspoken at times, but you know where he is. It is evident that he does not figure to remain in public life at the expense of his own self-respect.

Cannon's outspokenness has offended Mr. Gompers, Mr. Bryan and some religionists who were apparently waiting for a place to stick a pin. Mr. Gompers fell afoul of the Speaker of the House two years ago, when he essayed to defeat his re-election. Just the nature of the animus does not now recur, but it is undoubtedly that Cannon is more a real friend of labor than the professional "worker of workers." Cannon all through his career has given evidence of being the real friend of the real man; but he has never posed to gain the favor of any class. The man who has to work and wants to work finds a friend in Cannon, but the man who demands an advantage whether he wants to work or not does not get his motion seconded by Joe.

We have in California an instance of an attempt to gain political favor by trucking. An attitude was assumed regarding Japanese immigration that was not timely or natural. The official constituency is considerably engaged in raising fruit, and the great difficulty encountered in that industry is scarcity of help. But another considerable part of the constituency consists of organized labor. It was apparently figured that the position taken against Japanese immigration would draw the support of organized labor, while the fruit growers were natural allies; but now the spectacle is afforded of organized labor joining the Democracy and the Independence League in the support of another candidate, while the natural allies have been chilled by the attitude taken in regard to fruit-picking immigrants. The predicament results from failure to impress either interest with the sincerity of the course of procedure. It was a palpable vote-seeking proposition.

There is not enough of that outspokenness and independence among public men. For the large part they curl up at critical times. A rampant demagogue, denouncing them from political hustings, generally sends chills up and down their spines, causing them to attempt weak and timid explanations of things that may not need it, and to write "replies" for publication in the papers. The man who, conscious of his own rectitude, stands up and defies all comers when attacked will gain the approval of all square and outspoken men. Even if he suffers reverse, having conducted himself manfully and courageously he will have another opportunity. A reverse at the polls need not be the end of a career if a man goes down with colors flying.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

Cultivate bad habits and you'll reap miseries.

Many a man makes a fool of himself by acting smart.

Even a society had doesn't care to marry a blooming idiot.

It's as easy not to do things as it is to tell others how to do them.

Don't make up your mind until you hear the other side of the story.

The palmist only awaits an opportunity to grasp the hand of fortune.

Every time a married man starts to wattle down his wife struts him up.

It's usually the loud talker who is getting the short end of the argument.

Every time a man gives a 50-cent present he expects a dollar's worth of thanks.

A man has about as much use for his poor relatives as his rich relatives have for him.

Every man is firmly convinced that there is the making of a hero concealed about his person.

If people were all perfectly candid
none of us would be on speaking terms with our next door neighbors.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR

The average man isn't half as ashamed of going to jail as to a church pew.

What a woman wants her husband to do every once in a while is to quit loving her.

Nobody could estimate how many times a widow would have had to be married to get over being so innocent about men.

A man thinks he has fine business judgment when he guesses stocks are going up, and they do unless he bought them.

When you hear people talking so loud that everybody in the block can hear them it's a sign they are telling what they saw in Europe.

BROWN'S SIGNIFICANT CURIOSITY.

The supposition is, I am told, that J. Dalsell Brown is "broke." Whose supposition it is I don't know; nor how much fact there is to give it body. But whatever its source or its substance, it has proved to J. Dalsell Brown a very convenient supposition, for it was accepted by District Attorney Langdon and made to serve as an extenuating circumstance when the bank manager was proposed as a witness for the State. As he is "broke," some one said, it may be assumed that he did not participate in the wrecking of the bank for his own aggrandizement. But is Brown a pauper? Over in San Quentin the notion prevails that he has a large bundle of valuable securities sequestered somewhere and inaccessible to moths, creditors and rust. At San Quentin there are men versed in the ways of striped sinners, skilled in the interpretation of the moods and predilections that are engendered behind bars, and they tell me that Brown behaves very much like a man who has something better to look forward to than the carving out of a new career. They consider it luminously significant that he has a consuming passion for the quotations of the stock and bond market, and that every day he is like an opium fiend deprived of his dose until he gets hold of a daily paper containing the prices of securities. I suggested that perhaps the old habit could not be shaken off even in jail and that the banker's curiosity respecting the financial situation remained unabated even without the stimulus of personal interest. But this hypothesis was rejected by the wise ones of the penitentiary.—Town Talk.

AN ENGAGEMENT BROKEN.

The friends of the MacMillan family, especially those of sentimental temperament, received a shock the other day when from the MacMillan residence in Berkeley emanated the news that the engagement of Miss Edna Goodrich and Harry MacMillan was off. They could scarcely believe the cold fact, and all sorts of queries were showered upon the MacMillan domicile, everybody wanting to know how and wherefore and what the matter could be. It seems but a week or so since the young man and his beautiful fiancée were preparing for their marriage, a wedding which, it will be recalled, did not come off. Miss Goodrich departed after the guests at the Fairmont had feasted their eyes for a few days on her array of smart frocks. The gossip offered various theoretic reasons for the postponement of the wedding day, one of them being that the bride-elect had to patch up her differences with Nat Goodwin, to whom she was bound by contract to appear for another season or so as leading lady, before she could vanish into private life. Miss Goodrich's engagement with the Nevada rainer man, even if it has been broken off, as I hear, has been a splendid asset for the lady in the way of advertisement.—The Wasp.

NAT AND MAXINE.

Once more Nat Goodwin assures the public that Maxine Elliott is not, and does not contemplate, suing him for divorce. The veteran comedian has been denying rumors of his divorce ever since the putting of the ways which occurred in the season of 1902. In that season Maxine Elliott started out in quest of fame and fortune on her own hook, and her husband wandered through the provinces, the solitary star of his own company. Since then Maxine Elliott's professional pathway has been bordered with roses and her husband's with thorns. In play after play the statuette beauty triumphed, and in play after play the foremost comedian of the American stage tasted the bitter fruit of failure. What strange pranks Fate has played in the lives of these artists of the stage! When Maxine Elliott met Nat Goodwin she was "Tim Frawley's" leading lady. The critics rhapsodized on her beauty and lauded her talents with faint praise. In those days Goodwin was making money hand over fist. He "borrowed" Maxine from Frawley for an Australian tour and then made her his wife. Everybody said he also made her an actress. Today she is one of the queens of the American stage. The critics have a tale for her beauty as well as her artistry. She has the prestige of triumph won in English drawing rooms. She is a money-maker for managers and a fame-maker for playwrights. While Maxine has been ascending the heights Nat Goodwin has been giving an imitation of a man on the down grade.

In the first few years of their merely professional separation Goodwin and his wife took occasion at brief intervals to show that there was no foundation for the constantly recurring rumors of a domestic split. They arranged to have their pathways cross and that the grossroads they gave public exhibitions of domestic harmony. But set of late have they met. There have not even been any post-season renewals of acquaintance. But of course the breezy little comedian has been very busy of late financing his mining schemes and trying to keep in touch with his elusive leading lady. Apparently Maxine Elliott has taken no interest in these purely commercial affairs. She is attending strictly to her art, and has been denying nothing of late except the report that she has received financial backing from J. Pierpont Morgan. The New York newspapers have been anxious to know whether Mr. Morgan was financially interested in Mrs. Goodwin's new theatrical venture. Mrs. Goodwin says they are merely friends and Mr. Morgan playfully reports that his only interest lies in the prospect of getting a free pass for the opening night.—Town Talk.

THE MINISTER AND SOCIETY.

The Rev. E. Baker, lately pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Oakland, would have been better advised had he made his resignation a little less sensational. His farewell sermon probably loses some of its coherence from the necessities of newspaper abbreviations, for while it is comparatively easy to follow his tirade against society in general, it is by no means easy to find the precise reasons that have led him to his present step. He tells us that he has lived through seven and a half years of "attack, criticism, gossip and bricks," that the church is a "select club," that its members "pray on Sunday and lie on Monday," that church membership now means nothing, and that the church doctrine of hellfire is repugnant to him. There is much more of the same kind, but we still fail to understand why the Rev. E. Baker has retired from the First Presbyterian Church in order to become the manager of a school of scientific salesmanship. We may hope that the change will be both lucrative and sedative.

THE MAUDS GOING ABROAD.

I learn that Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Maud intend to go abroad for a year or two and consequently wish to dispose of their bungalow at Monterey. It is a delightful place, with a beautiful garden and the best view in town. The property can be cut up into eighteen large lots and can be purchased either as one piece or in subdivisions. It is seldom that such an opportunity is offered to obtain a really desirable country place, so admirably situated and delightful in every respect, and people in quest of such a property will doubtless find it to their advantage to communicate with Mr. Maud. A letter addressed to Monterey, Cal., will reach him. The Mauds are not likely to become permanent residents abroad, for both Mr. and Mrs. Maud delight in outdoor pleasures, and once people experience the advantages of our California climate Europe has few compensatory attractions as a fixed abode.—The Wasp.

THE TURN OF THE MASK.

Mrs. Paul Neumann's leap into the sea from a Panama liner this week, while suffering from tropic fever, is a somber ending of the name of the man who, while he lived here, was the leading spirit in the golden merry-making era of the Bohemian Club. Neumann's family ties, as he often explained, were too puzzling to elucidate as a joke. He was a Jew by faith, but he did not live up to the tenets of his religion. His wife was Spanish and a devout Catholic. It was to settle up her stepfather's estate that she made the recent trip to Honolulu, where the fevers fastened their grip on her. Neumann was also a staunch Mason and was buried by that order. In his day, around 1880, he was generally regarded as the maddest, merriest wag of the most care-free Bohemians. Light-hearted, fun-loving King Kalakaua took such a strong liking to him that he made him attorney general of Hawaii. Neumann gradually acquired a great deal of power in the little kingdom and accumulated a large estate. After the annexation he represented Queen Liliuokalani at Washington and pressed her claims to the crown lands. He was credited with knowing more about the laws of Hawaii than any other man living.

Neumann was an inveterate poker player and when he became the power behind the throne under King Kalakaua, cards became the reference books in most of the "cabinet councils" in which they were supposed to be often closed. On one occasion the two were deep in the chips of a game when the telephone rang vigorously and an attendant summoned the king. While Kalakaua was absent Neumann figured out that the royal sport was in his debt several thousand dollars. While calculating the chances of collecting the debt the king returned, apparently very much upset. "Paul," he said, gravely, "there's a wild street brawl going on down town and I'm likely to develop into a political revolution unless it is stamped out immediately. I must drop this game, get to my office, summon the heads of police and have them suppress this outbreak." "One moment," said Neumann, just as gravely, as he stacked up the chips with great precision. "I have just figured out that you owe me $6080. I give you timely warning that there will be a far more dangerous revolution started here instantly unless some sort of settlement is made at once." The king smiled. Then he sat down and wrote his I. O. U's for the amount and the threatened poker revolution went over till their next meeting.—Town Talk.

AN ENTERPRISING COUNTESS.

The Viscountess Molesworth has found her jam factory so remunerative that she has decided to enlarge the plant before the beginning of the next season and to add sauces and elixirs to her products. On her marriage Lady Molesworth began to make all the jams and preserves for the consumption of her own household. Her friends liked her jams so well that she finally decided to go into the business. An old brewhouse adjoining her home, Walters Hall, was roofed and fitted up as a factory and a staff of expert women engaged to make jam under her direction. Next year she expects to double the number of her employees as well as the amount of her products.—The Wasp.

CO-ED REVENGE.

Miss Isabel McReynolds, who achieved considerable publicity a year or two ago, while a student at the University of California, has a book on philosophy ready for the press. While at Berkeley Miss McReynolds' name was withdrawn from the Greek letter society to which she belonged "for good and sufficient reasons." She was not given an opportunity to defend herself, in fact, was given no more liking of the specific facts than the general public. Instances of this sort are so rare in the college world that the affair attracted more than local interest. Champions of Miss McReynolds hurled anathemas at the "narrow, cruel set of girls who could do such an ungentlemanly thing." Through it all Miss McReynolds preserved a beautiful calm, which did not communicate itself to her friends. She seemed to merely regard herself as a member of a syndicate holding a certain number of shares in an unfortunate scandal in which the sorority really held the majority of the stock. It was a sane and sober viewpoint, justified by the events which followed, during which the action of the sorority was held up to public and private shame and ridicule. All over the United States there is stirring a strong "anti-frat" movement and I have frequently seen this case pointed out as an instance of the blight of such secret organizations.

The placid irony with which Miss McReynolds viewed the affair may now be analyzed. She was planning a subtle revenge! It was all just so much data for the book which she would some day write. Those who know Miss McReynolds best predict that her so-called philosophy will be interesting reading, though not pure philosophy as defined by Professor Howison of Berkeley. It is not apt to follow line and rule—a paradox may even clope with a syllogism—but it is bound to be vibrant with statements which the average sorority girl will read with dainty disfavor. The Berkeley pickie is apt to be pretty well washed off her viewpoint and while the general public may chuckle over the page there will be no answering echo to the chuckle in the classic confines of the college town.—Town Talk.

A "RAT-HOLE" FUND.

What an easy mark is the San Francisco taxpayer! No rub of the cow district, no jay of Milpitas predict, upstarting at the riveters under the mortgaged eaves of the Phelan building, is easier. But of all the banks steers that are planned and executed to flich dollars from the pockets of the gullible and helpless populace, the most brazen is probably that which puts the money into the purse of Detective Burns and his bunch of "assistant special agents." There are thirty-three of these who defy the latent hoodlums of the unlucky numeral 7. To maintain these sleuths an appropriation of $70,000 has been made, and it is as certain as death or taxes that the entire appropriation will be expended. Burns himself gets $25 a month from this fund and his son, George E. Burns, a callow youth, gets $125 a month; to which is added any "expenses" father and son may see fit to charge. The other "agents" receive whatever they are worth according to a carefully graduated scale arranged in the office of the District Attorney. What these people are doing for the money nobody seems to know, but it has been charged that most of them are doing nothing and performing their duty in this respect with neatness and dispatch. The proverbial "rat-hole" is a crevice in a safe deposit vault compared with this Burns crater—the daughters of the horse-leech are not more insatiable. But what does it matter?—the city is rich and the disbursing officials don't care. Only the poor, hag-ridden taxpayer protests; and that protest is as a low, sad moan in Hadassah. There is no hope for the taxpayer. He has committed the unpardonable sin of honesty—his aggregate name is Mutt and he has convicted himself of picking his own pockets.—Town Talk.

THE DOCTOR AND THE MERRY WIDOWS.

Most of the merry widows of Oakland are in their director's gowns and largest butterfly nets these lovely September days, trying their best to ensnare the attentions of a handsome young doctor. He has a tinge of gray hair to be sure, but that is said to be only one of his many fascinations. Cupid has captured him twice, so the merry widows know that he is vulnerable. Rumor hath it that the doctor has been more or less smitten with a very attractive rich young widow, and that the probabilities are that before long an announcement of their engagement will be made. Just now the handsome doctor is at Del Monte. By a curious coincidence he is several of the Oakland merry widows and among them the rich, demure young widow.—Town Talk.

IT WAS HIS OWN NIECE.

At the recent fire in Piedmont, when the Harry Bishop house was burned, Rupert Whitehead was one of the neighbors who came gallantly to the rescue and got into a peck of trouble thereby. It is all on account of a newspaper tale, which was to the effect that Rupert Whitehead and Miss Carol Mills were "returning from an automobile spin" when they discovered the curling smoke emitted from the Bishop house. The item forgot to mention that Miss Mills is the young niece of Mr. and Mrs. Whitehead, and the genial Rupert has been "joshed" to death. He is by no means pleased that his fair companion was given such a meagre mention that they were both placed in an utterly absurd light. Miss Mills is not out of her teens and is a vivacious little girl and quite the pet of her rich aunt and uncle. She spends a great part of her time at their handsome new home in Piedmont.—The Wasp.

NO DOUBLE PERFORMANCE FOR HIM.

Unlike most of the stars of the theatrical firmament Dave Warfield, after playing his little part on the stage, modestly hides his light under a bushel. The average "eminent actor" as well as the average footlight divinity is as fond of acting off the stage as on, and it is the exceptional one that does not give the first lighter a treat in some fashionable cafe after the show. Not so David Warfield. Last Monday night after he had deluged the Alcazar with the tears of a large and sympathetic audience there was a great rush for Tait's, where the stars of the stage love to twinkle, and where the music master as a matter of course was expected to resume his performance. But expectations were sadly disappointed. After the show the Belasco star took to the shadows, vended his way to Tait's more street to an obscure oyster house and entered one of the box stalls, in the seclusion of which he supped like an ordinary mortal.—Town Talk.

AWAITING MRS. BUCK.

The climber who has just achieved Mrs. Buck's dances may not be so pleased at the change in names as the uninformed might imagine. It sounded so large to say, "No, I am not going out much this year—It's such a bore—Just to the Friday Nights." Have another biscuit?—and the listener from the finished drawl might imagine that the Friday Night was the lowly in the Greenway setting. The dramatic nomenclature makes it impossible to sprinkle cinnamon of this sort over the tea biscuit. Mrs. Buck will not be accompanied to San Francisco by her husband, as has frequently been stated in the papers. While she manages her cottillions and skating clubs Dr. Buck will be forced to go on proscribing pills for the garrison near Manila at which he is stationed. It was expected that he would get a furlough, but the request was not granted. Mrs. Buck, her island friends say, has wasted a great deal of time, as much in unproductive worry over her brother's escapades in the heat. Bernardo is still looking for some one to pay for his business talents and I hear that Campbell Shorb's wife is teaching school to keep the nature fakirs from shooting at the wolf on the doormat. Friends of Miss Ethel Shorb still insist that her engagement will shortly be announced to an aid on the staff of General Funston. The officer is at present at Fort Leavenworth, where he was ordered with his superior—Town Talk.

ENGAGEMENTS AND MARRIAGES.

Miss Ashley Turner, niece of the Hon. Francis Sullivan, and cousin of Miss Alys Sullivan, has forestalled her debut by announcing her engagement to Joseph Seltz, formerly of New York and now of San Francisco. She is the daughter of a once popular navy officer, Lieutenant James Ashley Turner, who died some years ago. Her mother, a very handsome woman, married again and is now Mrs. Reginald White of Mountain View. Miss Turner will probably be wedded in the early winter.—The Wasp.

LOOKING FOR A MILLIONAIRE.

Isadora Duncan, who has just arrived in New York to dance in this country under Frohman's management, sold in a recent interview: "I am devoted to my dancing and I love the little children of my school, but I am anxious to get somebody to take the financial end off my shoulders. A millionaire will do, or a municipality, or an institution. My trip to the United States will be principally with the object of arousing an interest in Grecian dancing in the hopes that some one will come forward with the money. I've first year in Berlin I made $30,000 clear from my dancing and with that money I started my school for children. Since then I have had to find $10,000 every year for its maintenance besides giving my services to the instruction of the girls and the management of the institution. I am perfectly willing to continue giving my services, but I do wish that some one would come forward and relieve me of the necessity of finding the money as well. I have never danced in public in the United States, but always privately. I had the pleasure at that time of almost starting to death, not only here, but in London eight years ago."—Town Talk.

WILL MAKE HER THEATRICAL DEBUT.

When the new Valencia Theater opens next Monday evening, a great many local club women will be much surprised to see Mrs. J. M. Gamble in the cast under the stage name of "Peggie Munroe." For some time past Mrs. Gamble has been one of the attractive drawing cards at the reading entertainments given by the Sorosis, the Century and the California clubs in this city. In these social gatherings she has won for herself a certain enviable distinction as a clever reciter. Her success became so flattering that it fired her ambition to achieve a similar distinction on the stage. In the organization of the new Valencia Theater Company her husband, Mr. Gamble, was elected president. This afforded too good an opportunity to let slip and her debut will follow. A number of her very intimate club friends are in on the secret and are planning to give her a very enthusiastic reception on the opening night. "Peggie Munroe," the somewhat odd stage name adopted by Mrs. Gamble, is a combination of her home nickname and Mr. Gamble's family name.—Town Talk.

WHAT A CAR CONDUCTOR IS.

The definition of a conductor, as given by the Oakland Traction Company, is: "A gentleman who stops the car for your convenience, makes change, handles your bundles and babies, raises your umbrella, answers foolish questions and doesn't ask a tip for doing so. Give him a smile and a 'thank you' to show your appreciation." New the carmen of Oakland are a polite bunch, there is no gainsaying that.—News Letter.

NEW JOB FOR "A DARLING OF THE GODS."

Friends of Blanche Bates have been hoping that she would find time to run over here this summer so they have been polishing up a welcome home for her. Her appearance in Belasco's new play at the Stuyvesant Theater, New York, has definitely settled the matter. She has been taking a private course with a business college teacher. This does not mean that Blanche has developed an over-blown talent for business and has decided to forsake the footlights for a high stool in the padded office of a railway director. Nor does it mean that she is taking a course in book-keeping to enable her to accurately figure out the profit and loss of a tiff with Belasco. As a matter of sheer fact Miss Bates is clicking the typewriter in the cause of realism. In the new play in which she appears essays the role of a stenographer. Modern stagecraft demands that be "on to her job." As a result Blanche cut here have been remarkable letters—sort of "epistles" on the cinema first. One of which I read began, "Since I'm in a certain number of hours of infernal machine I might as well write to you. Oh, excuse! There's a little bell before I was ready."—Town Talk.

VISITING THE OLD SCENES.

Andrew M. Lawrence, who directs the Chicago edition of the Hearst papers, is in California enjoying summer vacation, and Jack meeting his old friends. Mr. Lawrence began his newspaper life here as an Examiner till Mr. Hearst promoted him to the eastern field. On this day trip he is accompanied by his daughter, Miss Lawrence, a charmingly sweet and unaffected girl. His friendship with the M. Nutt family is a standing and he was one of the few guests present at the recording of Maxwell Nutt and Mrs. Mark McDonald of Santa Rosa, in the of the Sea Chamberlain's last trip. Mr. Lawrence's activities on the trip are as lively as in his days in the profession. This week he and Miss Lawrence are at Del Monte. Sun gave a little dinner party at the house to Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Nutt, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Warner, Alice Warner, Miss Helen Eames, Lawrence and Mr. Lewis. Lawrence will go to Pleasanton they will be the guests of Mrs. A. Hearst for a while before returning to Chicago.—Town Talk.

CAUSED SOME HEART BURNINGS.

Although several hundred card went out for the Pease-Glass reception last week there were many heart burnings in the wake of the fête of the season. Some people were overlooked. The guest of honor was Mrs. W. H. Richardson of Texas and the reception was given at the home of her father, Stephen G. Pease and her sister, Mrs. Joseph Gross, had forty friends to assist in receiving their guests. Among present was Mrs. Wickham Hunt in an imported death gown. The Pease family was eminently becoming. There were a superb diamond lace with the costume.—The W.

SOCIETY ON THE QUI VIVE.

Mr. and Mrs. Orylle Pratt will arrive in San Francisco about the first and reside with Mr. Pratt's mother in California street. The is now in the hands of the doctor. This action on the part of the will cause lively discussion in their set, as Mrs. Pratt, Sr., and Mrs. Pratt Wilson have never been on friendly terms, and Mrs. Wilson objected to the marriage of the young Pratt. Mrs. Pratt, Sr., is the wife of Mr. Jones of the shoe at Buckingham & Jones, from who was divorced. At the time of her divorce she was the able jurist he obtained a divorce from his wife for many a day. Mrs. James was Miss Adie Jones, and Mrs. Jones of Philadelphia was Miss Jones, who at one time was married to be engaged to "Bibi" Morrow. Pratt was never very fond of his wife's young step-daughter. The bequeathed a very large fortune everybody was surprised to find the widow was devised only $3 month and the residue for life residue of the estate was left to Pratt, Jr. The property was crippled by the fire. Local society keenly watching the home-comings of the young couple and the couple's events in the new Pratt ménage.—Town Talk.

LOST MANY TREASURES.

One of the how places in Piedmont, the beautiful and sumptuous home of the Harry Bishops, was destroyed by fire last week. The loss is irreparable. Mr. Bishop had collected art treasures and curios from all parts of the world. There was not a spot he visited in his extensive travels that was not represented by some memento either within the house or on the broad veranda. Many of his valuable theatrical treasures were there. Mr. Bishop had been so adding to this collection for a time past, the nucleus was laid in father in the famous old Grand house in this city. The Piedmont site cost fifty thousand dollars; the loss of it was insured. Mr. and Mrs. Bishop and their three children brother-in-law and a sister-in-law temporarily stopping at the Key Inn, pending the erection of a elaborate house on the same site.—Town Talk.

OLD FAMILIES UNITED.

By the marriage of Maxwell McNutt, son of Dr. McNutt and Mrs. Keegan, daughter of Mark McDonald, a bond of relationship was established between two families that have played conspicuous parts in the history of this State and that of late years have ceased to figure in the public eye. Dr. McNutt, by no means a has-been of the medical profession, was at one time the favorite physician of our provincial aristocracy. Two decades ago no child was considered well born in San Francisco that had not been ushered into the world by Dr. McNutt. A little over a quarter of a century ago the McDonald family exercised a great influence in the financial affairs of this city. It passed off the stage at the time of the failure of the Pacific Bank. Mark McDonald was seriously considered as available timber for the United States Senate, and properly to present his claims to the people he started a daily newspaper in this city. Both the McNutt and McDonald families, I hear, are pleased with the marriage of Maxwell McNutt and Mrs. Keegan, each of whom, by the way, ventured before in obedience to the persuasions of Cupid and met with misfortune, a circumstance that has served to render more ardent the felicitations of their friends on the happy consummation of their attachment.—Town Talk.

HEIR FOR THE SZECZENYIS.

The stork is expected to pay a visit next month to the home of the Countess (Lazs) Szeczenyi (nee Vanderbilt). The American Countess has passed the summer at the Hungarian home of her husband.—The Wasp.

DEATH OF A GALLANT OFFICER.

Rear Admiral Henry Glass, whose death occurred this week, was a man of many fine traits of character. In the circle of his friends he was much beloved. As an officer he lived up to the very best traditions of the navy. For administrative ability he was unsurpassed. He was a great enthusiast in all matters pertaining to the welfare of the service, and he was a stickler for discipline, demanding at all times the highest efficiency in the handling of ships and in every department under his supervision. During his long career on this coast he acquired a vast knowledge of conditions in the Pacific which proved very useful to the authorities at Washington, whose confidence the gallant sea fighter always enjoyed. It was characteristic of Admiral Glass that he should desire to be buried without military pomp, and consequently the funeral services were as simple as they were impressive.—Town Talk.

ENGAGEMENTS IN THE BUTTERS FAMILY.

The latest engagement rumor in the Butters family is concerned with the intentions of Miss Marguerite. She is said to look kindly on the suit of Mr. George Fuller, and as proof of the fact that they are engaged Mrs. Sherlock Holms points to the diamond and sapphire locket. Mr. Fuller's gift, which she is permitted to wear. No date has yet been set for the wedding of Miss Marie Butters and young Metcalf. Miss Marie has spent the summer at Douth Springs with the Metcalfs and I understand that the marriage has been deferred only because her fiancé has not yet been measured for a position in keeping with his dignity and family name. When he resigned from the navy a few months ago the Victor Metcalf's confidently expected that Mr. Butters would look after the business interests of the young man, but since the family estrangement Mr. Butters has not shown any such disposition. Miss Marie has already purchased two complete trousseaus in Europe in anticipation of her marriage and her friends are wondering whether she will have to order a third before it is consummated.—Town Talk.

CUPIDS AS SCORE KEEPERS.

The innumerable social affairs thus far given complimentary to Miss Van Arsdale, who will wed Lieutenant Kurtz on September 18, attest the popularity of this bride-to-be. One of the prettiest and most enjoyable was the afternoon of 500 to which Miss Alois Gebhardt invited a number of her friends last Saturday. Mosses of pink and blue ribbons and Cecil Bruner roses made most a fragrant background for the youthful hostess and her guests, and the score cards of hand-painted cupid's various moods created considerable merriment. Miss Gebhardt's guests included the Misses Amelia Simpson, Eleanor Landers, Laura Smith, Helen Gray, Dorothy Everett, Carlisle Lyons, Fernida Pratt, Florence Booth, Lalette Mauvais, Elise Schultz, Mrs. Hugu Mansfield and Mrs. Harold Law.—Town Talk.

Sunday Services in the Churches

MRS. GEORGE C. CARTER Leading Soloist in Trinity Episcopal Church

Sunday services in churches of the county, as well as news of the church, are given in this department.

Trinity Episcopal Church—Rev. Homer J. Vosburgh, D. D., of the First Baptist Church, Oakland, will begin a series of sermons on "Home Making and Home Breaking" with subjects and dates as follows: September 13—Making a Successful Marriage; September 20—The Foundations of the Home; September 27—Mistakes at the Start; October 4—Money and Matrimony; October 11—The Coming Woman Will Be Married; October 18—Fallen Men and Their Redemption; October 25—The Redemption of the Evening; or No Place Like Home; October 31—The Home of the Future. The series will be continued on the next Sunday.

Congregational—First (Congregational church, Twelfth and Chestnut streets) Rev. Charles R. Brown, pastor—Sermons morning and evening by the Rev. Frank E. Woodcock, D. D., of Berkeley, Mass. 11 a. m., How to Carry Life's Burden; 8 p. m., How to Carry Life's Burden into Midlife. 8 p. m. Difficulties of the Church.

Fourth (Congregational church, Rev. Frederick H. Blair, pastor—Morning service, 10 a. m.; evening service, 8 p. m. A Coronation.

Plymouth Congregational church, Piedmont avenue and Howe street, Rev. J. M. Moss, pastor—11 a. m., The New Birth of the Church; 8 p. m., The New Birth of the Church.

Market-street Congregational church, corner Market and Eleventh streets, Rev. Griffith Griffiths, pastor—Sunday service at 11 a. m., subject, Mission of Sin.

The annual meeting of the First Baptist church of Oakland will be held at the next Wednesday evening, when the annual reports will be read and officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

A farewell reception was tendered on Thursday evening at the Market Street Congregational church to Mr. and Mrs. E. Merriam and family, who are about to move to another part of the city.

The pastor, superintendent of the Sunday school and several members of the church will visit the family at their new home.

A farewell reception was tendered on Thursday evening at the Market Street Congregational church to Mr. and Mrs. E. Merriam and family, who are about to move to another part of the city.

The pastor, superintendent of the Sunday school and several members of the church will visit the family at their new home.

OLD MAN LEFT ESTATE TO GIRL

Octogenarian Returns Kindness By Bequest To His Friend's Daughter.

A woman for her kindness to an old man, who died last week, has left her estate to her friend's daughter.

The woman, who is now 80 years of age, died last week at her home in Oakland. She was a widow and had no children. She was a kind and generous woman, and her death was a great loss to her community.

Her estate, which is valued at $10,000, has been left to her friend's daughter, who is now 25 years of age. The daughter is a student at the University of California, and she is a very bright and capable young woman.

The woman's death was a great loss to her community, and her bequest to her friend's daughter is a testament to her kindness and generosity.

Millions of Dollars Expended at the City of Bay Point

When we tell you that millions of dollars have been spent on manufacturing plants, material and improvements at the City of Bay Point—we have to have a very good reason. You can see it with your own eyes. You owe it to yourself and family to visit Bay Point. You owe it to yourself and family to visit Bay Point.

When we tell you that we are building a canal for the welfare of Bay Point at a cost of over a quarter of a million dollars—it is so—it is so—it is so. It is a great work, and it is a great work. It is a great work, and it is a great work.

These enormous sums are not being spent by people without interest in Bay Point. They are being spent by people who are making it the model manufacturing city of the Pacific Coast.

The owners of Bay Point are spending more money for its betterment than has ever before been paid for improvements in a new city.

The greatest factory of its kind is now in operation at Bay Point. It is a great work, and it is a great work. It is a great work, and it is a great work.

Can you afford to stay away? You can afford to miss this opportunity to invest where millions of dollars have already been invested for improvement. It is a great work, and it is a great work.

Lots are sold to you at Bay Point as low as $200.00 on the easiest terms. We are not offering you 10 per cent off because we are not adding it to the cost of Bay Point.

Bay Point will never be sold at a reduction—the prices will steadily increase—and you know it. You know it. You know it. You know it.

The City of Bay Point offers you an honest opportunity for investment—for a home—for work—for wealth—and for health.

Do you intend to work and grind for someone else for all time to come? Haven't you ever made up your mind to become somebody and have something?

If you don't care to make money—if you don't care for peace of mind and independence—for yourself and those dependent upon you—we can't help you—neither can Bay Point.

Bay Point is the man who desires to better himself—and any man or woman with ambition to rise can realize their ideals in real estate investment at the City of Bay Point. Come and find out for yourself.

Get on a train and go to Bay Point (tomorrow) Saturday. Trains leave Market Street for 8:20 and 10:20 a. m. Southern Pacific. Get a round trip ticket—we will refund your fare if you decide to buy a lot—or better yet, come to our office and we will arrange matters satisfactorily and supply you with folders and all the information you wish regarding the City of Bay Point. Remember—lots are sold as low as $200.00 on the easiest and most liberal terms ever before offered.

If you can find anywhere an offer as liberal as we present we will give you a lot free.

Don't miss the opportunity on the 9:20 or 10:20 Southern Pacific train at Market Street Ferry (tomorrow) Sunday. If you can't go tomorrow—go next day—come into our office anyway and get a map and folder before you go.

MRS. J. LORAN PEASE

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lampson Brown announce the engagement of their daughter, Katharine Walker Brown, to Mr. William Thornton White, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. White of East Oakland.

THIS A MONTH OF WEDDINGS.

September is truly the month of weddings, a goodly rival for June. The vacation days are over, and one's friends are at home, so the bride is sure that those she values most can be at her wedding.

One of the most important of the September weddings was that of Dolly Bainbridge Tarpey and Paulding Edwards, which took place at the Fairmont Hotel on Wednesday evening. Mr. Michael Tarpey sent out over a thousand invitations for the wedding, and a large wedding company was assembled in the white and gold room of the Fairmont at 9 o'clock, the hour for the ceremony.

The idea of the white and gold scheme was carried out with most artistic effect in the many details of the wedding. The ceremony was performed at an improvised altar, on which were superlative candelabra and a fine arrangement of gorgeous white tiger lilies. The beautiful white lilies were also massed up with fine effect throughout the artistic white and gold room. An aisle down the center of the room was marked off by white ribbons, through which the wedding party passed, making a beautiful and most interesting picture.

At 9 o'clock the orchestra, under the direction of Paul Steindorff, played the wedding march from "Lohengrin" and the wedding party appeared, keeping step to the well-known music.

The ushers led the way—Arthur Kales, Arthur Goodfellow, Arthur Tarpey, Victor Metcalf Jr., Russell Selfridge and Charles Field, the young men being chosen for the most part from the college fraternity to which the groom belonged at Berkeley.

Following the ushers came the bridesmaids, Marie and Marguerite Butters, leading the way for the maid of honor, Miss Alice Cleary, the bride's cousin, and for the matron of honor, Mrs. Arthur Tarpey.

They all led the way for the beautiful bride, who came last, with her father, Mr. Michael F. Tarpey.

She was met at the altar by the groom, J. Paulding Edwards, who was accompanied by the best man, A. D. Schindler. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Thomas McSweeney of Francis de Sales Church of this city, who is a very old and valued friend of the Butters family. Father McSweeney was assisted by Rev. Father Stark of the Paulist order. The wedding party made a most artistic and very charming picture as they stood at the altar, while the wedding ceremony was performed. Beautiful Dolly Tarpey made a lovely bride, wearing one of the most elaborate wedding costumes one has seen in many months—a costume that was most effective and wonderfully becoming.

The wedding gown was an exquisite study in lace, the gown of heavy satin being completely covered with old rose point lace. The wedding veil of tulle and a bouquet of orchids completed the costume.

The gowns of the wedding party were the most elaborate seen in San Francisco in many months. Mrs. Arthur Tarpey is a very stunning young matron, and her gown attracted universal attention. It was of mousseline de sole over white silk, a sheath gown, brilliant in cloth of gold and gold lace. She wore gold leaves in her hair and carried a Directorate staff, to the end of which white roses were fastened with floating ends of tulle.

The maid of honor and the bridesmaid were gowned alike in Directorate gowns of white mousseline de sole over white silk, with an overdress of cloth of gold. Gold leaves in the hair completed the costumes. All the gowns showed the new sheath effect, with tulle and chiffon ruffles marking the Directorate details. They were all quite the handsomest gowns that have been seen for many a day in any San Francisco wedding.

After the ceremony there was an informal reception, when congratulations for the bride and groom were in order, the guests taking their departure a little later.

The wedding supper was a family affair, and was served in the Tarpey apartments at the Fairmont. Besides the wedding party there were seated at the beautifully decorated table Mrs. Henry Butters, Mr. and Mrs. David Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. R. Augustus Bray, Mrs. G. E. Cook and Miss Lucille Cook.

The wedding presents were handsome and very costly, and represented many gifts that later bid fair to beautify a happy home.

Mr. Tarpey's gift to his daughter was a handsome chest of beaten silver, and Mrs. Butters' gift was a lot at Piedmont, near Alta Vista.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Paulding Edwards leave shortly on the Mongolia for Honolulu, and on their return they will make their home at Chico, as Mr. Edwards is the electrical engineer for the Henry Butters electric roads all through that region.

HALL-HAYS MARRIAGE.

Another very charming wedding of the week was that of Miss Louise Hall and Mr. Harry Hays, which took place on Thursday evening at the Plymouth Congregational Church.

Miss Hall is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Merton Hall, and the groom, Harry Hays, is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Hays, a well-known family of Oakland's pioneer days.

The Plymouth Church is the artistic little new church built last year near Fabiola, and it is a very picturesque little church, lending itself to artistic decoration, and just the church for a wedding which includes for the most part one's family and very intimate friends.

Miss Hall chose green for the color scheme of her wedding, and it made a series of pictures of unusually fine effect.

The pretty little church was in green in honor of the bride, ferns and white lilies making a series of artistic pictures.

The wedding ceremony was set for half after eight and the wedding party arrived promptly, the ushers leading the way up the aisle to the well-known music of the wedding march from "Lohengrin."

They were followed by the maid of honor, charming Eliza McMullen, who was a dainty and beautiful study in a gown of white chiffon over green and carrying lovely maiden-hair ferns, arranged with shower effect.

The two bridesmaids, Miss Sevilla Hayden and Miss Carolyn Pulmanter, were gowned alike, wearing unusual gowns, effective and most artistic. They wore Empire gowns, very gorgeous gowns of green chiffon cloth over pale green mesaline, the beautiful green tones lighting up wonderfully well under the electric lights.

The bridesmaids wore silver wreaths in their hair and carried shower bouquets of maiden-hair ferns.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Hiram Hall, walked alone. She wore a gown of white satin, the corsage superbly trimmed in lace. She wore a white aigrette in her hair, and was a most stunning matron of honor.

Mrs. William Hall was very beautifully gowned in heavy lavender silk, the corsage carrying a bertha of rose point lace.

Mrs. John Hays, the mother of the groom, wore an exceedingly handsome gown, a superb gown of broadened white velvet, elaborately trimmed in duchesse lace and pearls.

After the ceremony, in which the Episcopal ritual was used, there was a reception at the home of the bride, about seventy-five relatives of both families being entertained.

The wedding party was seated at the bride's table, and late sent the ring in the cake to Miss Norma Castle.

After a wedding journey, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hays are to make their home in Porterville, where Mr. Hays has business interests.

Among the well-known people at the church were some bright young matrons, who have recently been brides: Mrs. Arthur Crist, Mrs. Gilbert Allen, Mrs. Harry Chickering, Mrs. Walter Corcor, Mrs. William de Fremery, Mrs. Edson Adams.

Among the other guests at the wedding were Anita Thomson, Ruth Kales, Florence Henshaw, Miss Anna Peters of Stockton, Miss Hazel Palmanteer, Miss Helen Dornin, Miss Gertrude Russell, Miss Evelyn Hasey, Miss Norma Castle, Miss Bessie Reed, Miss Lillie Reed, the Misses Frank, Miss Matthes, Mrs. Harrison Clay, Mrs. Angur, Miss Sallie Hampton, Miss Ruth Dyer, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hayden, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Prather, Mrs. Samuel Prather, Mrs. Fox, Mrs. McMullen, Miss Ray Morrow, Mrs. Creed, Mrs. W. C. Palmanteer, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Horner, Emory Farnum, Mr. Hiram Hall, Mrs. Haven, Miss Laura Haven, Miss Edna Orr.

Miss McNear goes East to Farmington, one of the finest preparatory schools for girls in New England, and she also will spend two years in study in this Eastern school.

Mrs. F. H. Moon and Miss Ellis Moon left last week for Chicago, going directly to their old home in Wisconsin, where they plan to meet Leslie Moon. With him they will go to New York, and then to Andover, Mass., where the young man will enter the preparatory school, which is so well known for its excellent training.

Miss Moon spent so much time at Miss Head's School that the family has many friends in prominent Oakland circles.

The Moons may go abroad before returning to their California home. Robert Sharon and Ernest Percy are both returning East to resume their studies at Exeter. They are in the last year of their preparatory work and both expect to be ready for university work next year.

Many going abroad now.

The Edward Halls and the Volkmanns are among the families planning to spend their winter abroad, and both families will leave for the East and Europe some time in September.

Instead of Eastern training, Mr. and Mrs. Hall will take their daughter, Miss Susan Hall, abroad and will spend career. It has some fine traditions, and "Old Eli" has made its mark on the civilization of modern times.

Miss Amy Bowles returns to the Spence School, which opens in September. She has spent two years there and is in the graduating class this year. Miss Spence's school is one of the most famous schools of the East, some of the most representative of New York's matrons being graduates of the school.

THE MISSISSIPPI GOES EAST late in September and will probably spend two years at school there. Their aunt, Mrs. Rainey, entertained for them at luncheon on Saturday, a dozen young people being delightfully entertained at Mrs. Rainey's home on Alice street.

After a delightful luncheon the young people were entertained by Mrs. Rainey at the Orpheum matinee.

Charming Ernestine McNear is one of the most interesting of the very young girls. She has done exceedingly good work for one so young at the Horton School and at Miss Gamble's School at Santa Barbara.

the next year in a well-arranged in-cray on the continent.

President Jordan of Stanford said that a year abroad was equal to two years of college work, and know that in Europe are the wonder-works of art, and everywhere the genius of men's genius that give high standards and make for the broader culture.

Miss Johanna Volkmann has had some interesting farewell affairs for her. Miss Beatrice Simpson entertained at luncheon for her,
and Mrs. George Horrick gave a card party in her home across the bay for this popular girl.

VISIT OF ANDREW LAWRENCE ON COAST.

Among the guests on the coast in these early autumn days have been Andrew Lawrence and his daughter,
Miss Lawrence, of Chicago.

Mr. Lawrence is connected with the Hearst newspapers, at the head of the Chicago Examiner, and is one of the successful and best known men of the Middle West.

He began his newspaper career on THE TRIBUNE, and has many friends in Oakland who are glad to congratulate him on his success.

Mr. Lawrence and his daughter have spent some days at Del Monte and are to be Mrs. Hearst's guests at the beautiful Hacienda before their departure for their home in Chicago.

VISIT WITH THE HUSH FAMILY.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mago are spending the autumn at Etanema, home of the Hushs in Fruitvale, where they are the guests of Mrs. Mago's mother, Mrs. Hush. One hears that the historical story is winding his way, bringing a happy gift to the Mago
household.

NOTES OF PEOPLE NOW ABROAD.

Interesting news comes to us of many people we know abroad the autumn.

Mr. and Mrs. De Young and their daughters have left London and are now motoring on the continent. In the motor party are also Wellington and George Cameron, and the literary planned includes Germany and Italy.

Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, who has been taking the cure at Carlsbad, has started on an automobile trip through Switzerland, and later with her son she is planning to motor through England.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Landfield (the Princess Lubanoff) are again in London. They were recently the guests of the Grand Duke Michael and Countess Tarbo, and they were also the guests at Warwick of Lord Brodie.

Maxine Elliott, who has been sending the entire summer at Marlenbad, returned to New York last week, and begins her Eastern season early in October.

Loie Fuller, the dancer, is making a great success in London at the Hippodrome. She is well-known in Oakland as a dancer, but perhaps better known to many here as a warm personal friend of the late Mrs. F. M. Smith.

Early next year Loie Fuller is coming to Boston to appear in opera in six ballets representing Indian, Chinese, Japanese, Grecian, modern and pastoral subjects.

A wave for dancing has swept over Europe and the East, and the daily journals are filled with the triumphs of Maud Allan and Isadore Duncan.
But it was Loie Fuller who invented the wonderful skirt dance, and who first realized the magnificent field, which light offers in wonderful color schemes.

HAVE COME BACK FROM TRIP ABROAD.

Mrs. W. C. Little and Miss Caroline
Little, after two years spent abroad, have returned to New York and are the guests of Mrs. Little's daughter, Mrs. Ketcham (Helen Little).

Mrs. Ketcham has a most delightful country home, "Spuyn Duvvil," on the banks of the Hudson, where she spends each summer. It is a very picturesque country place, with the beautiful Hudson always in the foreground.

The summer has been unusually hot in the East, and Californians write how gladly they would welcome a breeze from the Pacific. At least we have the summer climate—that must be conceded to us.

Miss Caroline Little spent six years abroad, taking her preparatory education under some of the best masters in London, Paris and Berlin. She came home to visit her mother, Mrs. W. C.
Little, and spent some months here,
and immediately after the earthquake they left for Europe and have been there until late this summer, when they returned to New York.

While there Miss Caroline Little has done a good deal of most excellent work with different well-known teachers,
among them Madame Lilli Lehmann.
In London, Miss Little gave a most successful concert, her beautiful vocational voice winning for her the highest praise from London musical critics.

Her voice is one of rare sweetness, and of great power, and has been so thoroughly cultivated that Miss Little will rank among the leading singers on the coast.

The Littles will return to California late in September, and will be at their picturesque home, "Littlebank," on Broadway, where Miss Little will receive her pupils, some of whom have been at the University of California.

SOCIETY NEWS of the WEEK

for some time been awaiting her coming.

SOME SPLENDID "REST DAYS"

The September holidays have been so beautifully arranged this autumn that they have been of great value in the way of rest days and many families who could arrange it have taken the entire week off.

Mr and Mrs P E Bowles and their daughter, Miss Amy Bowles and Miss Florence Jenschaw have been at Del Monte, and many very interesting people have been there also.

It is true, Oakland did not bring any trophies home as Miss Chasebrough won the women's cup and the clubs north and south of us carried off the other prizes.

Nevertheless some of the Claremont Club players passed in very good scores, among them Robert Fitzgerald, Jack Neville Frank Kales Dan Beiden, Miss Josphine Johnson and Miss Alice Knowles.

Mr and Mrs John Francis Smith are at Boulder Creek, and at Brookdale the Albert Longs, the Dudley Kinsells and the McMullens have all entertained large house parties this week.

"TOGETHER" THE BOOK OF THE HOUR.

The book of the hour is "Together" and there is a rush to read it just as there was a rush to read "Three Weeks." Of course, the latter proceeding was simply a great waste of time. But "Together," has possibilities, and Professor Herrick may "arrive," in a literary way, in the not very distant future.

Meantime many stories are told regarding the peculiarities of Professor Herrick. One reads: The professor's personality is peculiar and may account for some of his queer notions. Aiming to dwell apart in his own personality, he requests his students not to salute him "out of school," as to receive recognition distracts his mind.

NOTED GUESTS OF THE WEEK.

Among the guests of friends here this week have been two charming young matrons of San Francisco Mrs Arthur Crist and Mrs Gilbert Allen. Mrs Crist, who was formerly Miss Kitty Kuta, has been the guest of her friend, Anita Thomson, and Mrs Gilbert Allen has been Norma Castle's guest in the latter's home at Piedmont.

Both of the young matrons were guests at the Hall-Hays wedding on Thursday evening.

Miss Helen Dornin also came from Inverness, where the Dornins have a picturesque home, to be present at the wedding of her friend, Louise Hall.

WHEELERS WERE AT BURLINGAME

For the holidays, Mr and Mrs Benjamin Ide Wheeler and Master Wheeler have been the guests of the William Crocker at their home in Burlingame. Mrs. Crocker is planning to spend part of each year hereafter in the East as her sons are to do their preparatory college work there.

PLANNING THEIR NEW STUDIO.

Mr and Mrs Oscar Maurer are very busy these September days planning their new studio and the future work which they hope will crown it with success.

They are at "Weltvedren" the beautiful and most artistic home which led the way in the architectural progress of North Berkeley.

Mr Maurer's studio is adjacent to the home, and one hears many stories of its unique designs and most wonderful atmosphere. People say it is a very remarkable studio very bright and gorgeous with its Mexican trappings.

There is to be a Sunday exhibit shortly which promises to be immensely worth while. The Maurers are young and enthusiastic and Mr Maurer has the fire of genius and they promise to mean much in the artistic development of the coast.

PICTURES IN THE MEDDLER TODAY.

Mrs J Loran Pease who, with her sister was hostess at the most elaborate reception of the season.

Miss Harriet Norris, a beautiful Southern girl whose engagement was announced this week to George Calg.

Miss Charlotte Kent, whose marriage to Congressman Sturgess of West Virginia will be a December event.

Mrs Minnie Humphrey who will leave on October 1 for an extended trip to Melbourne and London.

MISS DUNHAM IN THE SIERRAS

Miss Florence Dunham who has been spending the late summer at Los Gatos, has gone to the Sierras for the month of September. Miss Dunham is a confirmed traveler, and spends much of her time in Europe where she has now many friends.

The Dunhams have a very picturesque cottage in Los Gatos where Miss Mary Dunham spends much of her time. Mrs Langdon, formerly Ruth Dunham and her charming little daughters, are often there also.

The old Dunham home on Alhambra street has passed into other hands and is now the residence of Dr and Mrs Guy Lillencrants.

CUTTINGS BACK HOME AGAIN.

Mr and Mrs Francis Cutting have returned to Oakland, and are again at their home on Harrison street. They have been away for many months since Mr Cutting was ill a long time from overwork after the earthquake.

Mrs Cutting is a most stunning young matron and she entertains most hospitably in her very picturesque home by the lake.

WEDDING OF MISS BALDWIN

The wedding of Russell Selfridge and Miss Grace Baldwin is set for this month and will take place at the bride's home across the bay.

The Selfridges and Baldwins represent sent former prominent Oakland families and the wedding of the young people will be of much interest to many friends on this side of the bay.

Mrs Baldwin and her daughter recently returned from a year's stay abroad, and they brought home with them many additions to the popular bride's trousseau.

TO MEET HER BROTHER IN EAST.

Mrs Henry Wedderbee left for the East recently, where she is to meet her brother, the Hon Selah Merrill who is soon to leave for his new post in South America having been appointed United States Consul to Guan.

Mr Merrill was for many years United States Consul to Jerusalem and while there he made a very honorable record in archaeology and is now one of the best known archaeologists in the world of research.

VISITING IN MILL VALLEY.

Miss Sevilla Hayden has been spending some time as the guest of friends in Mill Valley and returned to town in time to take her place as bridesmaid at the wedding of Harry Hays and Louise Hall. Miss Hayden is very popular as a bridesmaid, and has been chosen by her friends some of the popular brides-elect, very often in the past few months.

SENATOR PERKINS IN YOSEMITE.

Senator George C Perkins and Miss Fanny Perkins are among the late tourists who are spending delightful days in Yosemite Valley.

One hears that Cleveland Baker has obtained the nomination for District Attorney in Tonopah, and that he is succeeding in his law practice in Nevada, so the marriage of Miss Perkins and Mr Baker will probably be an event of the not distant future.

LUNCHEON OF MISS BOWLES.

One of the most attractive luncheons of the early autumn was given by Miss Amy Bowles (complementary to Miss Enid Lawton whose engagement to Mr John Edward Hall was one of the late summer announcements).

Miss Bowles entertained at The Pines, the beautiful country place in the foothills, where the Bowles are still lingering these lovely September days, representing a ter all, our most beautiful summer weather.

The luncheon was most daintily planned, and Miss Bowles guests included Miss Enid Lawton Miss F. Pine, the McNeut Miss Havemeyer, Miss Harriet Alexander Miss Helen Jones Miss Ruth Valentine, Miss Ethel Leiter Miss Harriet Stone Miss Susan Hall Miss Madeline Clay Miss Alice Albright Miss Elizabeth Orrick Miss Marie McHenry Miss Gladys Wilson and Miss Susie Erold.

PROF NEUSTADT BACK AT WORK

Professor and Mrs Neustadt have returned to Edinburgh, after a delightful summer spent in Switzerland. Professor Neustadt holds a most responsible position in the University of Edinburgh and the Neustadts have a most attractive home in the midst of Edinburgh's most cultured set.

Madame Neustadt, who was Sofia Newland of this city, is one of Edinburgh's sweetest singers, and indeed, she has won great praise for her concert work from London's best-known critics.

She is studying always and very sweet, clear soprano voice is very beautiful. She has been abroad so long now that she has had the advantage of foreign training and has achieved a distinct success in her musical career.

Madame Neustadt is very charming, very refined and cultured an American woman of whom other Americans passing through historical old Edinburgh are always proud.

WEDDING SET FOR EARLY WINTER.

The wedding of Mr Charles Wheeler and Miss Hilda McElrath is set for the early winter, and the wedding will all but endless congratulations and good wishes. One hears that Mr Wheeler is a splendid fellow, who has done extremely good work as an engineer for the Spring Valley company.

Hilda McElrath is of that charming family of girls, who have had such a happy home life together who have been so helpful and who have always planned so many good times for themselves and for their friends. They have a charming home life and their friends are very fond of them, especially of this dear bride-elect.

Miss Hazel Palminter is planning to entertain for Miss McElrath, and the guest list will include for the most part intimate friends of the hostess and of the bride elect.

WILLIAMS BACK FROM McLOUD RIVER.

Mr and Mrs Thomas Williams, after a most delightful summer spent on the McCloud river have returned to their home in San Francisco. They are the most hospitable of people and in their picturesque home on the McCloud many guests have made happy each summer.

Mr Williams built it originally in the heart of the forest for a fishing and shooting lodge the wide veranda overhanging the McCloud river, and one may fish from it during long summer afternoons.

The lodge has been remodeled until now it is one of the most picturesque of the delightful McCloud river homes.

Thomas Williams is a generous host, but he is a good deal more than that. He is the most generous of benefactors, and the most modest. For much of his helpful work has no record in the chronicles of the day, but perhaps after all the best record that can be written is that which is inscribed in human hearts.

Mr Williams is planning to leave for the East for a business trip some time this week.

MEETINGS OF THE BANKERS.

Among the interesting gatherings of the autumn are the meetings, planned by the Bankers Association, recently organized for the purpose of bringing together in friendly fashion the many employees of the different banks.

One of the most elaborate addresses of the year was given at the last meeting by Mr Sampson of Alameda, who was formerly connected with the Central Bank.

Mr Sampson based his well-prepared lecture on a trip abroad as he recently returned with his father and mother from a trip around the world.

Mr Sampson's lecture was most entertaining. He had the genius to see what was interesting, in other lands, in other people and his point of view was most unique. The lecture was beautifully illustrated the superb lantern slides having been prepared in Düsseldorf, where they do the best work of that kind in the world. Mr Sampson is to repeat the lecture in Berkeley.

CLUB DATES FOR THE MONTH

The September days seem to be very full of dates, since the season has commenced early. Club dates are most interesting and the various card clubs announce meetings for early in September.

Good times and we are all in them seems to be a sort of motto this year—a thought to be held in one's mind. And in the calendar sent out this year by some bright university girls one reads "the sentiment for September."

Blessed are the happiness makers. Blessed are they who know how to

At the conclusion of the program tea prominent women received, among them past presidents of the Century members of the Century Club. On Thursday evening the visitors were taken for a sight-seeing trip through

Chinatown and tea was served by Miss mission.

On Friday the alumnae were enter-

by the local alumnae on an automobile trip to the Lick Observatory. Dinner was served at Smith's creek, and after a peep at the heavens through the great telescope the ladies were brought down to the Vendome, where they breakfasted next morning. On Saturday Mrs J O Hayes, wife of the Congressman, invited all the visitors and all the California alumnae to an alfredo luncheon at her beautiful coun-

From there the alumnae took the train to Del Monte, where they spent Sun-

All this was exclusive of a luncheon

excellent paper by Dr Sophie Hart,

professor of English at Wellesley, was

THE MISSES STONE COMPLIMENTED GUESTS.
AT ELABORATE
TEA THIS AFTERNOON.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED
AT LARGE
CARD PARTY
GIVEN BY MRS. KEEFFE.

At a charmingly appointed card party given by Mrs. E. D. Keeffe (Alice Britton) yesterday at her San Francisco home, the interesting news was disclosed of the engagement of Miss Mary Cole Stroud and William Eggenhoff. Miss Stroud is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stroud and a sister of Ben Stroud, former captain of the University football team.

Eggenhoff is the son of Mrs. Mary Eggenhoff, former county superintendent of the Marin county schools.

The wedding will probably be an event of January.

Both families have long been prominent in Oakland, the Stroud family making their home in Linda Vista, Eggenhoff has oil interests in Eureka field, where he now resides and the Stroud family will also make their home in the southern city this winter.

The afternoon was happily enjoyed playing 500, after which a dainty supper was served. Pink dahlias combined with feathery ferns made a most effective decoration.

Among those present, besides the guest of honor, were Miss Katherine Stroud, Miss Summers, Mrs. Arnold Mount, Miss Beth Johnston, Miss Milam Summers, Mrs. Roy Burkes, Miss Mary Twombly, Miss Blanche Middlemore, Miss Marie McFarly, Miss Louise Orr, Mrs. J. A. Britton, Miss Carmelita Hollis, Miss Muriel Swain, Mrs. Warren A. Houts, Mrs. Walter Kellogg, Miss Gertrude Elchler, Mrs. Mark Strous, Miss Lucy Smith, and Miss Ann Duffy.

Miss Stroud will be the guest of Mrs. Keeffe for a few weeks during which time she will be the motif for many pleasurable affairs.

WEDDING DATE.

The marriage of Miss Beatrice J. Conway, daughter of Dr. Jessie B. Conway, and Herbert P. Spencer will be solemnized at the home of the bride's mother, 567 Telegraph avenue, Sunday morning, September 20, at 7 o'clock, the Rev. George White officiating.

The bride-elect is a very attractive brunette and the wedding of these two young people is the culmination of a pretty little romance. Mr. Spencer met Miss Conway when she was in Sacramento on a visit and immediately fell in love with the winsome girl.

Spencer belongs to an old Modesto family and is the proprietor of the Modesto Evening News, succeeding his father, who was the former owner.

The wedding service is held early in the morning that the couple may take the steamer for Los Angeles. A charming honeymoon journey has been planned, which includes a trip to Los Angeles and the surrounding points of interest, followed by a visit into the interior of Mexico. They expect to be away about two months.

The bride will wear a pretty bridal gown of cream tulle with overdress of white lace, and will be attended by Miss Katie Hanley as bridesmaid, who will wear a gown of white silk and salmon. Her mother, Mrs. Conway will attend the bridegroom as best man.

The going-away gown is of tulle in one of the new shades of brown, with hat to match.

THIMBLE BEE AND GAMES.

Miss Caroline Maelis was a hostess this afternoon at her Vernon street home entertaining in honor of Mrs. William Conn, who has recently come from McCabe, Arizona, to visit her girlhood friends.

Mrs. Conn was Miss Mabel Hall before her marriage, which was an event of four years ago.

The afternoon was enjoyed in sewing, chatting and playing games, after which a dainty supper was served.

Miss Maelis's guests included Mrs. Philip Conrad, Miss Helen Dimmick, Miss Katherine Caver, Miss Marie Parish, Miss Mary Peck, Miss Gussie Melmann, Miss Elenor Johnston, Miss Irene Colgrove, Miss Anna Beard, Mrs. Grace Wren, Miss Florence Hill, Miss Edna White, Mrs. Horace D. Johnson, Miss Helen Hancock, Miss Gladys Courcian, Miss Madge Kemp, Miss Hazel Burpee and the guest of honor.

The color scheme for the afternoon was red and white dahlias and white sweet peas, combined with delicate ferns, making an artistic effect.

Mrs. Conn will leave for the mountains the last of the month for a short outing. Upon her return to Oakland, several affairs are being planned for her pleasure.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John White on Tuesday, September 8, when they celebrated the tenth anniversary of their marriage.

Mrs. Carrie Armstrong presented the couple with a very beautiful poem of congratulation which she composed.

Many useful and artistic little presents were received, it being a tin wedding.

The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Elenor, Mr. and Mrs. White, Mr. and Mrs. Hood, Mr. and Mrs. Schultz, Mrs. Rothamel, Mrs. Yarkley, Mrs. Kieck, Mrs. Winkler, Mrs. Rand, Mrs. Graves, Mrs. Hukill, Mrs. Williamson, Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. Himes, Mrs. Munson, Mrs. Billington, Mrs. Jacobs, Mrs. Clegg, Miss Elenor, Mrs. Clegg, Mrs. Clegg, Mrs. Olson, Mrs. Gehring, Mrs. Forrest, Mr. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre, Mr. White, Miss Rose White, Mr. and Mrs. John White.

LUNCHEON AND SHOWER.

An elaborate luncheon and shower was given on Thursday, September 10, by Mrs. Charles C. Thomas and Mrs.

J. R. Westdahl at 1011 Filbert street, in honor of Miss Mabel Deining, whose marriage to Frank Hart of Guam will be an event of September.

Covers were laid for thirty guests, the rooms being made unusually attractive with their decorations of red and green. All had a most enjoyable afternoon, being entertained with recitations by Mrs. Lawrence Westdahl and songs by Mrs. Robert Westdahl.

Mr. Hart, who holds a government position in Guam, arrived today on the transport Thomas. After the wedding the couple will leave immediately for Guam, where they are to make their home.

WELCOME HOME.

Since the return of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Curtis from a two years' sojourn abroad they have been the motif for many delightful affairs.

Last week, Mrs. Morris entertained them at dinner at the Hotel Carlton, Berkeley. On Thursday evening, Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Scott entertained at dinner when Mr. and Mrs. Curtis were the complimented guests.

Covers were laid for twelve, all intimate friends, including Mr. and Mrs. Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Still, Mr. and Mrs. J. Layman, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Craft.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis are stopping at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Layman until their Oakland home is ready for their occupancy.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

At a delightful affair given by Mrs. A. F. Parsons on Rose street, the announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Cornelia May Loring and Dr. Harry James McNulty. Miss Loring is the daughter of C. H. Loring and sister of Dr. E. L. Loring. She is a pretty and vivacious girl of many accomplishments.

Dr. McNulty is a graduate of Cooper Medical college. He has been surgeon on various trans-Pacific liners and has an extended acquaintance. The last year he has been taking a post-graduate course in a New York hospital, but is now located in Berkeley, where the young couple expect to make their future home. Dr. McNulty is a member of several Masonic orders. No date is set for the wedding.

TO MAKE EXTENDED TRIP.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Garstone, are dismantling their artistically furnished bungalow on Alhambra avenue and arranging to leave Oakland for a year or more, which they will spend in travel both in the United States and abroad. They came to Oakland about two years since, searching for the most desirable climate available, and settled on Oakland as the best in the United States. So well do they think of it that after spending a year or more in travel they expect to return and make it their permanent home.

AT KEY ROUTE HOTEL.

The numerous friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Bishop who sincerely sympathized with them in the loss of their beautiful Piedmont home, by fire, may now see them at the Key Route Hotel, where they have taken apartments for three months, or longer.

With Mr. and Mrs. Bishop and their children, are Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson and Miss Amy Jackson, mother and sister of Mrs. Bishop.

STUDIO AFFAIR.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Manchester have issued cards for an informal gathering on Sunday evening, complimentary to Miss Christina Rose and Miss Edna Williams.

The Manchester studio is very attractive and one is assured of a delightful evening when this hospitable couple entertain.

TEA FOR POPULAR GIRLS.

This afternoon the Misses Harriet and Marion Stone were the complimented guests at a tea given by Miss Laura Smith of San Francisco. Mrs. Eleanor Smith and her daughter, Miss Laura, have been spending the summer at San Rafael and upon their return to town have leased the Vail house, Webster and Green streets, for the winter.

INTERESTING TRIP.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Agassiz Becker of Piedmont have recently returned from a most interesting outing. During their trip they covered over three hundred miles in the saddle.

Among the places visited were Chico, Great Springs, Big Meadows and through the High Sierras.

VISITING MOTHER.

Mrs. Seymour Phelan (Miss Effie Wade) is in Oakland, the guest of her mother, Mrs. W. W. Wade. The marriage of Mrs. Phelan was a prominent social event of the early season and during her month's visit to her girlhood home she will be the motif for many pleasant affairs.

DEL MONTE GUESTS.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. White were among the Oakland people who motored down to Del Monte for the golf tournament. They also took in the tennis tournament, returning home on the tennis.

SOJOURNING IN ALASKA.

Mrs. Oliver A. Barker, who spent last winter in New York and Philadelphia, is now in Alaska attending her mining interests, which are with one of the largest mining enterprises in Alaska.

RETURNED FROM TRIP.

Miss Myrtle M. Howell has just returned from a sketching trip in Monterey county. Next week Mrs. Howell will be the guest of the Robert Whitakers of Los Gatos. While there she expects to make sketches of the Santa Clara valley.

ENTERTAINED AT CLUB.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic J. White entertained at dinner at the Country Club on Wednesday. Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rickard, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Sample, Miss Schultz of San Francisco and J. J. White Jr.

STORK MAKES VISIT.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Elm Dungan of 1505 Hearst avenue, Berkeley, are the proud parents of a young son, Allen Royal Dungan, who arrived on September 6, to become a member of the family circle.

AUTOMOBILE TRIP.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Gars one are accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Norman D. Cook are touring Lake county in their automobile.

PERSONALS.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Avon of Oakland and Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Phillips of Alameda, have returned from a trip to Lake Tahoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Adamson have taken a vacation trip which will include visits to Columbus, Ohio, New York and other large Eastern cities.

Miss Emily Norris is the guest of the Misses Clough at Vana.

Miss Laura Bishop is at Livermore where she is the guest of D. J. Radgley.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Adams are spending their vacation at Sacramento. C. D. Vincent is at the San Beach, Santa Cruz.

Mr. and Mrs. George Laverson and child are in Santa Cruz for a week.

L. W. Jefferson is on a business trip at Santa Cruz.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Perkins are enjoying an outing at Woodland.

Mrs. A. Hammond is visiting friends in Valpara.

Mrs. W. D. Nichols spent a few days last week in Sacramento.

Mrs. Lena Chalfant has returned from Ukiah, where she was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Euts.

Harris Sprague, who was recently a guest of H. G. Koppikus, in Georgetown, has gone to New York.

C. L. Willard and D. W. Koppikus were recent visitors in Georgetown.

FOUND DEARTH OF AMERICANS IN FOREIGN CITIES THIS YEAR

H. C. TAFT RETURNS FROM A TRIP ABROAD

Spent Most of His Time Collecting Novelties For Their New Store.

H. C. TAFT.

H. C. Taft, founder and senior member of the well-known dry goods firm of Taft & Penney, has just returned from a trip of three months to Europe, where he went for the purpose of securing a long line of novelties and foreign articles for the several departments which are to be incorporated in the new store of the firm at the corner of Fourteenth and Clay streets, which is to be opened to the public on the first of next month.

Mr. Taft has made a number of trips to Europe both for pleasure and business and, while on this occasion he was not specially bent on pleasure, he yet passed some time in visit and recreation. The greater purpose was to secure an assortment of foreign goods with which to keep up the reputation of the firm as among the leading importers in their line on the Pacific Coast.

Mr. Taft enjoyed the trip greatly and returns in full vigor and in the best of health. "The greater part of my time abroad," said Mr. Taft, "in speaking on the subject of a representative of 'THE TRIBUNE,' was spent in Paris, Frankfurt and Nuremberg.

AMERICANS MISSED. "In France, I found there was a great deal of dissatisfaction over the absence of the usual number of Americans on whom they depend there to make business lively, or perhaps to make it unusually lively, because it is people from our country who are depended upon to make business prosperous and satisfactory to the trades people. This is, of course, in connection with the usual patronage of the residents of the place who are by no means had and spenders.

"In Germany, there was the same dearth of tourists from this side of the water and, although there was prosperity apparent on every side, there was felt the absence of the people of our country who are considered most liberal patrons.

REVIVAL IN SIGHT. "The absence of the people from America was, of course, due to the fact that we have not been spending money as liberally for a year or so as we have been accustomed to. At the same time a number of the foreign merchants told me that there was a revival in progress and that it was patent that times were improving in a satisfactory manner.

NEW CREATIONS. "I went to France to get for the patrons of our store the novelties of the closed their country home. Montesol, near Callisto, and are getting ready for their departure for Europe. Mr. Livermore is at present in Santa Barbara looking after his business interests there, and Mrs. Livermore is visiting Mrs. Beaver in Berkeley.

GUESTS FROM LOS ANGELES. Miss Bertha Hall of Oakland, who lived for many years in Oakland, but who has made her home recently in Los Angeles, has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Shanklin, and attending the sessions of the Collegiate Alumnae.

phons, who said, among other interesting things, that the very best college professor of history in the United States was Professor Lucy Salmon of Vassar.

On Friday there was an interesting program at Stanford, in which President Jordan took part. Altogether the ten days of the alumnae's visit to this coast were memorable ones in educational circles. The next meeting of the alumnae will be in Cincinnati, Ohio, and the next, two years hence, at Denver, Colo.

OUT OF TOWN FOR THE HOLIDAYS. The two holidays this week took almost every one out of town for the charming Indian summer days, and the trains toward on Tuesday and Thursday mornings were crowded with those who were returning from brief vacations at near-by mountain or seaside resorts or in the country homes of friends.

ENTERTAINING FOR THE MINTZERS. Most of the entertaining of the week has been in honor of the Mintzers, who are going to Philadelphia for the winter, and who expect to leave the end of next week. On Tuesday evening of this week Mrs. Mintzer gave a dance to the young friends of her sons and daughter, all of whom are going East to school. A number of young folks' dinners preceded the dance, the largest of which was the one given by Mrs. Wakefield Baker, at which Mrs. Baker's two young sons were the hosts.

SIXTEEN YOUNG PEOPLE WERE ENTERTAINED. On Friday evening of last week Mrs. Frederick Beaver and her young daughter, Miss Isabel Beaver, were hostesses at a dance given in honor of Miss Mauritzia Mintzer, and almost the same young people were invited. Both the Mintzer and Beaver homes are admirably adapted for entertaining and the entire drawing room floors of both houses were given over to the dancers. Supper at the Mintzer home was served on the lower floor, and the entire drawing room floor was beautifully decorated with pink tiger lilies.

On Friday evening of this week Mr. and Mrs. Frank Deering gave a large dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William Mintzer. Afterward several tables of bridge were played. Among Mrs. Deering's guests were Mr. and Mrs. George T. Marye Jr. of Washington, who have been spending the summer and fall at the Fairmont.

Castro Valley Innkeeper Accuses Harness-Maker of Alienating His Spouse's Affection.

FRUITVALE Sept. 12 Domestic astrousment in the home of St. Sorenson owner of the Mountain Inn on the E. side of the city, was the cause of a serious battle at the corner of Twenty-third and
B. and First Fourteenth streets, yesterday afternoon when the drunken, exhausted George Fritz, a beer miser, arrived to the fact Sorenson came into town yesterday determined to extend his family life. Fritz came hurriedly around the corner of Twenty-third avenue and Fourteenth street when he met his enemy Fritz to the Accusations were made and followed by Sorenson by firing a gun. The two then elbowed each other and Fritz received two blows in the face that did not hurt his eyes.
Fritz rushed in time to prevent further damage, but the first hotel man did not leave he would not a warrant to arrest Fritz, and after doing his wishes all citizens.

BLIND MAN HAS

THE WANDERLUST

According to officials of the Home for the Adult Blind, at Telegraph avenue and Whitehall street, it is unsafe for the ward Lundbeck one of the inmates of the home, to live in a city. He has mania for straying away, they say, and being blind he has had many narrow escapes from being run over by electric cars.

cars and automobiles. Lundbeck is 5 years of age and of weak mind. He was examined this morning by the lunacy commission in Judge Melvin's court and committed to the Mendocino State Hospital.
